An Unexpected Visitor

A LADY BIRD VISITS NEWSROOM — Stray birds have been reported throughout the Peninsula area of late, winging their way into one mess or another. And all have been duly reported by the local press on their front pages. Not to be outdone, the Post had a visitor last week during a pea-soup fog which shrouded the Westlake area. Out of the blue came a full-grown hen pheasant and skidded to a landing at the Daly City bureau of The Post-Times' door. Post employe Gloria Morrissey "comforted" the troubled bird until arrival of Humane officers. After a physical by Peninsula Humane officials, the banded bird was released at the Crystal Springs game preserve. She had evidently become lost during a storm. According to Humane Society officers, animals often become "confused" during storms and stumble away from their habitat. (Post Photo)

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Out of the mist came a full grown hen pheasant, skidding to a landing at the front door of the newspaper.

The "lady bird" offered little resistence as she was picked up and carried inside, to protect her from being run over by a car in the busy shopping area.

While a hurried call went out to the Peninsula Humane Society (pheasants in Westlake?) other members of the Post staff began their own investigation of the red-banded bird.

Where had she come from, and why?

Shortly after a photo of the bird appeared in the North County edition of the Times last Friday, Fred Rianda, of 104 Northgate Avenue, informed this newspaper the pheasant was not a runaway from Crystal Springs, as the Humane Society claimed, rather she was a runaway from the Olympic Club Golf Course in Westlake.

Earlier, the Humane Society had determined the bird could only have come from the huge San Francisco watershed game preserve above San Mateo.

Rianda, a member of the exclusive Olympic Club and a wild animal fancier, started buying the attractive pheasants and releasing them inside the wooded club grounds about two years ago.

"I bought 40 pheasants while on a trip to Madison (California) in 1965, but they didn't do too well at first," he said.

To date, Rianda has purchased, with his own funds, some 108 pheasants—both hens and roosters—and released them at the club.

The hen "captured" by Post employees on February 18 had been released by Rianda only three days before.

"Sometimes children chase the birds out of the club grounds before they've had a chance to adjust to their new environment," Rianda revealed. "That's probably what happened to the hen that was found Saturday—she was scared off the grounds by some children."

Rianda said several months ago he heard shooting near his home (in the center of Daly City) and investigated.

"Two teen-agers had a 32-caliber pistol and were shooting at a pheasant inside the club grounds," Rianda said adding, "of course I immediately stopped them and took the gun away."

He said several quail are being nursed back to health, minus a leg or eye, in his backyard.

"It seems somebody used them for targets and knocked off their legs," Rianda commented bitterly.

Over the years, pheasants have strayed from the Olympic Club grounds and have been seen meandering about in back yards, school grounds, and in the middle of Daly City freeways.

"Recently a foursome playing golf spotted five hens and a pair of roosters near Skyline Boulevard," Rianda said.

Asked why he decided to donate the birds to the club, Rianda answered: "because it's kind of a hobby—something I enjoy doing. And the birds add a special touch to the club grounds."

Many members agree with Rianda and have expressed their delight in seeing the birds pop out of the underbrush during a round of golf.

"It gives one the feeling of really being out-of-doors, to witness one of these handsome birds darting across the grounds," a club member said.

How about that pheasant the Humane Society took to Crystal Springs and released, Rianda was asked?

"I'm afraid she won't last ten minutes. That area is swarming with hungry foxes and other predatory animals," Rianda pointed out.

Next time the fog rolls over Daly City and a pheasant glides out of the mist, dial PL 6-0076 or the Olympic Club Golf Course, Rianda suggested.

Resolution Introduced

Pacelli Urges D.C. Get Out of ABAG

Councilman's Act Supported By Colleagues

A resolution ripping the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG), and declaring intent to withdraw from that organization, was presented to the Daly City council by Councilman Frank Pacelli Monday night.

Last week at the annual meeting of ABAG, Pacelli threatened to withdraw from the nine county, 81 city association because he was "disturbed about the way the organization operates."

In the resolution, Pacelli cites Article 11 of ABAG's bylaws concerning withdrawal of any member city or county.

The article provides that an intent to withdraw must be stated in the form of a resolution enacted by the legislative body of the jurisdiction desiring to leave the association.

A withdrawal notice must be made at least 30 days prior to the effective date of withdrawal, according to the bylaws.

Pacelli said ABAG "seeks to obtain for itself complete powers and rights including powers to tax, condemn and take what-

Success Story

Achievement At Thornton School

By WILL THOMAS

Fourteen students at Daly City's new Thornton High School rejected opportunities to return to their "home" schools, Thornton Principal Floyd Gonella told Jefferson High School District Trustees Monday night.

Gonella, reporting on progress at the "continuation school," said the 14 were the majority of students considered ready to return to "regular" schools after several weeks of individual instruction in a school that specializes in programs that fit the needs of the youngster.

Opened last September for the first time, in portable classrooms, the school now has an enrollment of 100 boys and girls, who are there for economic reasons, because they had records of truancy, were generally low achievers or because a few—"a low ratio," Gonella said—were disciplinary problems.

Thornton features a system in which it is "unlikely that two students are getting exactly the same program," because the projects, classroom instruction, and outlook is geared first to the student's primary interests, Gonella pointed out.

It is a school that is demanding on teachers, Gonella indicated, because of the variety of student programs and individual levels.

Why did the 14 students decline a change?

Basically, Gonella explained, it was because the students, after a history of failing grades—"they were running around," he added—they finally were achieving C's, or better, instead of D's or F's.

"They were achieving," he said—doing "something they like to do."

As for the teachers, Gonella pointed out that they must have

Teacher-Run School For South S.F.?

By DON GRIERSON

Trustees of the South San Francisco Unified School District will receive a unique proposal for a "teacher-administered" school at the board meeting March 13.

Robert Gehl, president of the South San Francisco chapter of the American Federation of Teachers, said he will present the proposal, which calls for a "trial attempt at letting teachers run one school in the district."

"We will request that trustees allow teachers at one school to select one or two administrators from their own number," the AFT president said.

"This would result in a saving to taxpayers, a lowering of class sizes and the returning of legal and traditional authority to the classroom teacher."

Gehl said present administrators of the school district "spend entirely too much time and effort in the field of public relations."

"Under our proposal, the teachers themselves would take over this public ralations function," he said.

Planner To Urge Zone Rejection

South San Francisco City Planner Daniel Pass will oppose the Park and Recreation Commission's proposal for formation of a "CV" zoning district in the city.

"I doubt that the proposed legislation would serve any useful purpose," Pass said this week. "I feel the preservation of public lands and open space requires the constant efforts of the recreation commission and the planning commission, and that an easy remedy, such as the CV district, will not do the job."

Park and recreation commissioners have proposed the CV zoning as an over-all plan for

Residents Hit Trespassing Of Students

A community committee made up of property owners in the Westmoor High School area, school trustees, administrators and other civic officials is planned to find a solution for students' trespassing on new nearby property.

A district spokesman told trustees Monday night that a meeting of property owners and school administrators resulted in an acknowledgement that the problem was that of community rather than school jurisdiction.

In a letter to board members on the behalf of a two-page list or of property owners. Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Murillo pointed up the problems over which they are concerned.

They include:

—Public smoking on their lots. "Of grave concern to us, in addition to defacing our property (and creating) a health hazard."

—Congregation of groups of from 20 to 30 students on their property.

—Petting and necking in front

Coast's Minshew Miffed at County

Pacifica's Mayor Harland Minshew is reluctant to apportion 25 per cent of the city's hotel-motel occupancy tax revenue to San Mateo County for use by the Convention Bureau until status of the annual county allocation of $600 to the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce is determined.

Minshew said the chamber has not received the money. He said it is being held up until Pacifica agrees to the motel-hotel tax apportionment to the county.

"In my estimation," the mayor said, "that is a 'shakedown'."

Minshew said the city has not received information it has requested on program plans, expense intentions.

He added that he thinks the county "owed" the Pacifica chamber the funds, because of the community's tax contributions.

Speaking of a so-called "shakedown," Councilwoman Grace McCarthy said she didn't "see anything like that" in a letter on the subejct from County Manager Stallings.

Minshew said he gained the inference in a phone call. He did not elaborate.

Mrs. McCarthy said that in her opinion Pacifica already was "well along" in benefiting from the county promotional program through the Portola Expedition historical brochure.

She said she'd agree to the allocation, provided the convention program covers include "at least one" picture of the area.

Councilman Nick Gust said he wants an answer on county plans before agreeing to the apportionment.

Councilman Jim Fox disagreed with Minshew. He didn't think the county owed the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce any

School Ousts S.S.F. Trio

Three high school students arrested several weeks ago for the sale and use of narcotics were expelled Thursday night at a special meeting of the South San Francisco Unified School District trustees.

The three students, all teenage boys, were expelled upon the recommendation of Dr. Paul Nielson, district superintendent.

Two of the boys are presently being detained at Hillcrest, trustees said, and the third was released to the custody of his parents.

"The board's decision was unanimous," Dr. Nelson reported, "and in accordance with the district's policy regarding the use of narcotics.

Douglas Will Not Seek Re-election

With only three days left to file for the upcoming April school board races around the North County records indicate there are more vacant seats than candidates.

In what may prove to be the hottest race among the six north county districts — the Jefferson Elementary School District — neither incumbent Joseph Lewkowitz or O. Wayne Douglas has registered to run.

Trustee Douglas earlier this week said "I doubt if I will enter. It's (the board meetings) taking more time than I can give.

"I cannot continue to take time out from my work on this matter. As a matter of fact now that my children no longer attend the district schools we may move," Douglas said.

Lewkowitz has indicated he will enter the school race and kicked off his "unofficial" campaign with a letter denouncing a "smear effort" reportedly a "knack" for handlnig the situations the Thornton-type program involves.

It's a "rapport," he mused.

"You don't go to college to learn it," he declared, "You either have it, or you don't."

He praised his staff highly, as well as the co-operation he received from staff members of the "regular" schools, such as Jefferson or Westmoor.

"The home schools have not pushed this as a dumping ground," he said.

Thornton is not a campus of "bad guys," he emphasized.

This high school does not hand out F's, yet students must complete all their work and put in required time to get a grade at all. Even at that, there are no grades until after the first semester.

It is conceivable, Gonella said, some students may continue beyond that point without receiving more than an evaluation form that is prepared for all pupils in the first semester.

It is likewise possible, for some lower achievers, to go an entire year without gaining a unit toward graduation. But, the student still feels, he said, as though he's learning something and is not discouraged.

Thornton's attendance mark is close to 80 per cent, with verified excuses for illness.

The whole school packs up for the field trips.

Another program highlight is the co-ordination of academics with crafts. Gonella said a history class may include construction of a castle or a replica of historical structures by some of the boys.

Obviously enthused about the school, Gonella seemed to impress trustees with the concept of "individual need at each student's level of development."

Except for a shortage of materials to match the individual-concepted system, Gonella asserted, "We have not had any problems."

Student participation is considered good; parental participation is a new goal.

"We see successes in small bits and pieces immediately," Gonella said on Thornton High.

FRANK PACELLI

ever action it deems necessary in the nine Bay Area counties.

"ABAG has subverted its purposes and intent," Pacelli pointed out in the resolution.

The council unanimously backed Pacelli's resolution and set April 15 as the withdrawal date.

One of Pacelli's main complaints against ABAG was the limited representation of San Mateo County.

"In its present form, ABAG allows all cities and counties to be presented equally and the present proposal will allow San Mateo County a total of only three representatives," he said.

Along with other North County cities, Daly City has continued to protest the haste with which ABAG actions have been undertaken "without sufficient time and notice to properly study and evaluate the various proposals."

Pacelli thought many of ABAG's proposals might be "proper" if the councils had more time to study them.

Although several other North County cities have expressed their dissatisfaction with ABAG Daly City is the first to turn its back on the far-flung association.

South San Francisco councilman, Andrew Rocca, earlier last month told assemblyman Leo Ryan, "Let's keep regional government on this side of the Bay.

"Do you really think Oakland cares about our airport problems? I say regional government is fine—as long as we keep it on our side of the Bay," Rocca said.

Annual city dues for ABAG amounts to some $1,000.

During the annual meeting last week in Berkeley, two crucial votes were taken by delegates: One for registered opposition to electing representatives to the proposed regional government on a one-man, one-vote basis; the other gave the agency power of eminent domain over public lands.

An appointed 34-member executive committee now runs ABAG .

Mayors, councilmen, and supervisrs select the executive committee members, but many cities request these positions be elected by the people.

Planner To Urge Zoning Disapproval

protecting "civic districts" within the city.

Under the proposed ordinance amendment, development of areas designated "CV" districts would be limited to single-family dwellings, "incidental uses," civic centers, public schools, public buidings, public parks and playgrounds and public recreation.

Also, use permits would be required before any building could be "erected, reconstructed, moved or structurally altered in any manner within a civic district."

"I feel compelled to challenge the effectiveness of the proposed CV district with respect to sites owned by public agencies other than the municipality. It is common knowledge that the federal, state and county governments place small emphasis on the land-use plans of the cities in which they own or use real property," Pass said.

"The specific zoning plan should not become a garbage can, used as a receptacle for regulations of doubtful value and theoretical nostrums," the planner said.

"It is true the CV zoning wuld delay the council in the event it determined to use city lands in derogation of the civic district regulations. However, I feel such delaying tactics would not be congruous with the democratic processes. . . ."

Planning commissioners and park and recreation commission members will discuss the proposal at a joint meeting scheduled March 9 at 7:30 p.m.

READY TO ROLL—Ground breaking got under way last week at the 18-acre $11,200,000 Lakeview Park tract in the heart of Daly City. The area is being developed by Richard Price of Menlo Park. According to local officials, the tract is the largest undeveloped area remaining within the city. money, and the chamber shouldn't expect it, he said.

He urged a meeting with county officials involved.

Fox thought greater benefits would result if the city would "work with" the county government officials, the Convention Bureau and the County Fair staff.

He frowned upon "hasty action," however.

Minshew asserted, though, that the county must work with the cities, too.

"Its not just a one way street," he declared.

City Manager Bill Masonheimer and other city officials will attempt to discuss the matter with the county, it was finally agreed.

Rites Held For Civic Leader Sarto

Funeral services were held February 25 for Joseph Louis Sarto, 75, long-time Daly City resident and civic leader who died February 21 at Colma.

Services were from Lasswell Chapel, with entombment in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Sarto was chosen Daly City's "citizen of the year" in 1960, and was well-known in this area as a benefactor of young baseball players. He sponsored teams from Sacred Heart, St. Ignatius, Riordan and Lincoln High Schools.

He operated the Villa Sanitarium before retiring recently because of poor health.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Violet M. Sarto; a son, Joseph T. Sarto; a sister, Mrs. Mary Traducco, and two grandchildren.

launched against him recently in Daly City.

He would not elaborate further on the matter.

Largest volume of entrants has been experienced in the South San Francisco Unified School District, with one incumbent and four "new" candidates registered.

Included in the race for the two seats are Hale F. Porter (incumbent), Yung Han Choo, John J. Burke, Robert T. Lambertson and Lewis M. Levin.

From the Laguna Salada School District (Pacifica) only one person, Robert S. Sale, has filed with the county school board, while incumbent Howard A. Sullivan will run in the Brisbane School District race.

Both incumbents, David G. Barry and Ferdinand G. King, have entered the Bayshore Elementary School District elections.

Lyle Ingersol and James Cooper, both incumbents, have filed for re-election in the Jefferson High School District.

The California School Boards Association has issued a 21-point checklist for potential candidates in the upcoming school race.

Among the questions asked:

—Does the candidate have a sense of humor?

—Is the candidate able to carry on cheerfully when public appreciation of his efforts seems to be lacking?

—Does the candidate understand that leadership often involves the turning of public opinion from an erroneous attitude to the acceptance of a feasible rule?

—Does the candidate have the courage and ability to explain and enforce a rule which might not be popular but which is proper?

—Will the candidate give the necessary time to this important position?

—Will the candidate work to develop unity among the members of the board, contributing to harmonious development of the program?

—Will the candidate accede cheerfully to the decision of the majority?

—Has the candidate an unselfish interest in the public schools, the community and in every child?

of their homes ("in cars, on sidewalks, steps, porches, etc."). "We feel we have a right to protest this sort of action where our small children are involved."

—Parking. "We protest the students parking in front of our homes when there is a parking lot provided for them."

—Defacing property — putting out cigarettes on sides of houses ("after just painting a house, this can be quite distressing"); kicking out grills in the vents of front porches to enable them to "toss debris, such as cigarette butts, beer, wine and liquor bottles inside"; kicking garbage cans around when they are left out for collection and throwing the lids into the street.

Health and safety hazards also were cited.

Deadline On Dog License

Today is the deadline for dog owners to obtain their 1967 registration.

San Mateo County law requires that every dog have a license, for which a $3 registration fee is charged. After March 1, a penalty of $1 is added.

"Dog licenses help us to identify injured dogs quickly. In all cases we provide emergency service to the nearest veterinarian hospital," explained A. Russell Turver, operations manager of the Peninsula Humane Society.

Continuing, Turver said that "the license fee is nominal, not unlike a form of insurance protection In addition to emergency service, we help restore lost dogs to their families through quick identification."

Penalties may be avoided by applying directly to any of the three shelters during the remaining days of February:

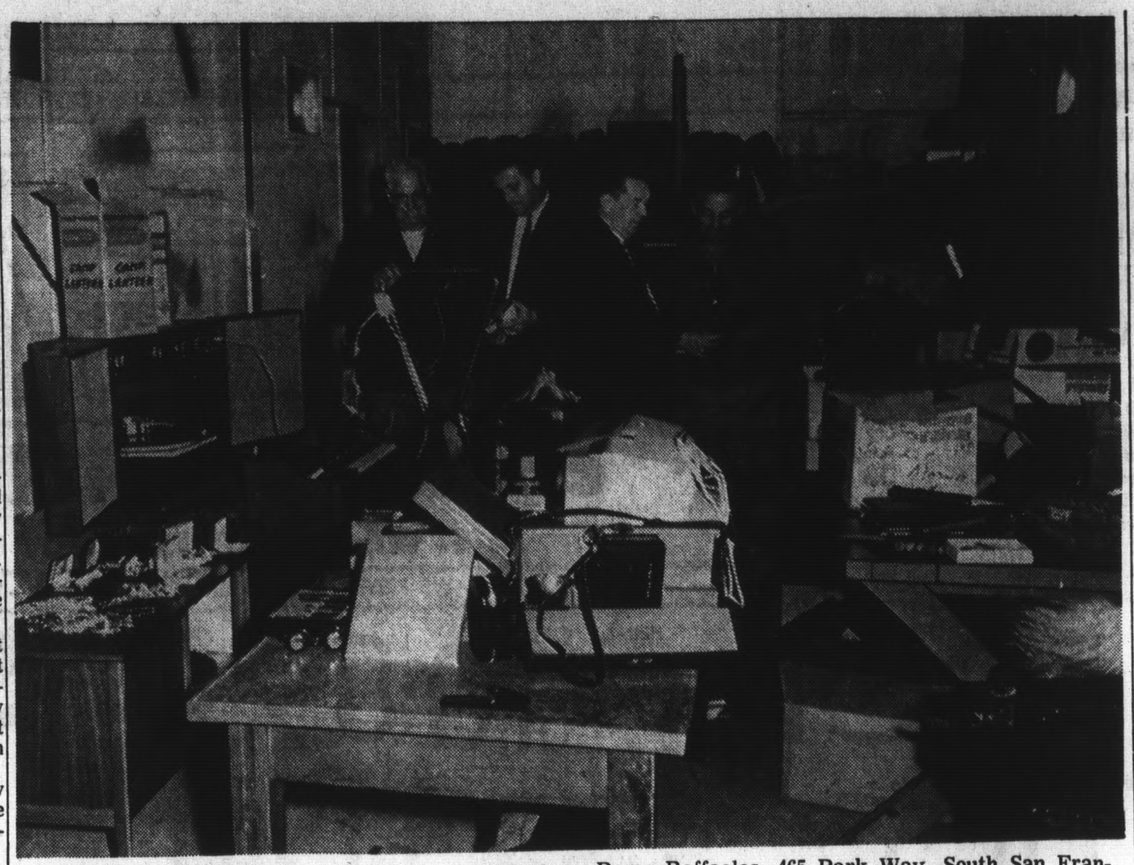
Veterans Boulevard and Steinberger Road, Redwood City (368-4691).

Applications are also available at city halls, police departments and veterinarians. Completed applications should be mailed and postmarked prior to midnight March 1 to avoid the added penalty.



VICTIMS OF RECENT burglaries in the North Peninsula area turned out by the score Friday to view the $25,000 worth of loot confiscated last week when police broke up operations of an alleged man and wife burglary team. The merchandise pictured represents about one-third the loot allegedly taken from area homes and business places by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Biagi. Left to right are Remo Raffaeles, 465 Park Way, South San Francisco, owner of a television set found in the loot; Detective Jack Rhodes, who was instrumental in recovering the loot; Broadmoor Police Chief Ray W. Savage, who also aided in the recovery, and John Tarpino, a San Francisco man who came to identify his stolen property.

Two Teeners Injured In Coast Crash

Two South San Francisco youngsters were hurt Sunday when their motorscooter collided with a car on Cabrillo Highway in Princeton.

Highway Patrolman Ben Donahue said the accident occurred when Mrs. Bessie Geneva Fuller, 60, of 565 Chestnut Avenue, San Carlos, attempted to make a left turn into Capistrano Street.

Her sedan was struck broadside by the scooter, which was being operated by Robert MacLean, 18, of 18 Shasta Court, South San Francisco.

He and his passenger, Barbara Negri, 16, of 19 Magnolia Avenue, were both thrown to the roadway. They were taken to Sequoia Hospital for treatment of contusions, abrasions and shock.

Portable TV Stolen in SSF

A portable television set was stolen from a San Antonio Street residence in South San Francisco Friday while the owner was away, police reported.

Officers said the set was taken from the home of Jerri Peltonen between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. A rear door of the house was left unlocked.

$500 Is Damage From Oven Fire

An oven fire caused an estimated $500 damage in a kitchen at 722 Larch Street in South San Francisco Sunday when grease caught fire.

Paving Slated For S.S.F. Housing Area

Once the weather "settles down" and is more predictable than it has been for the past two months, street paving will begin at South San Francisco's Stonegate Ridge housing area, developer William Young said Friday.

Young denied that a local ordinance banning blasting at the mountainside development was the sole reason the project was more than six months behind schedule.

"You can blame the weather and the Vietnam war for the slowdown," Young said. "Matter of fact, if we could be certain the weather would hold up, work could start right now on the curbs and gutters."

In a letter to the South San Francisco Planning Commission, Young asked for a one-year extension on the filing time for a use permit at Stonegate Ridge.

Last month's unusually heavy rainfall inflicted considerable damage to already graded roads and lots in the development, and must be repaired before construction can progress, Young revealed.

"Although our target date called for streets to be in by last September, we are still in pretty good shape," he said.

Residents of the adjacent neighborhood stormed to several council sessions last summer when it was reported that dynamite was going to be used for blasting through rock strata encountered as workmen dug ten-foot deep utility trenches around the site.

Residents said the council had granted the developer a permit with the specific stipulation that no blasting would be used for construction at Stonegate Ridge.

The council, in a unanimous move, told Young no blasting would be allowed at the site.

Why Power Went Off

A power outtage disrupted activities for half an hour in portions of Daly City Monday morning.

Electricity was off from about 8:30 until 9 a.m. Daly City police dispatchers said the outtage was south of Alemany, in the Westlake region.

A Pacific Gas and Electric Company spokesman said painters working at the rear of the 200 block of Coronado in the Westlake region of Daly City had dropped, or thrown a rope over a 12-KV circuit.

This caused two or three of the circuit's conductors to come together. The automatic relay system then cut off the power.

The spokesman explained that each circuit is made up of three groups of wires, which, in this case, apparently came together.

About 1,000 Westlake homes and businesses, including the Daly City office of The Times, experienced the interruption.

$700 Jewelry, Cash Are Stolen

Rufus Huguenot told Daly City police more than $700 in jewelry, musical equipment and cash was stolen from his South Hill Avenue home Saturday.

Entry was made through a rear window, police said.

Trailers Entered By D.C. Thieves

A number of trailers and campers, parked behind a gasoline station on Bayshore Boulevard in Daly City, were broken into over the past weekend, police reported.

No estimate of damage or missing items was available at this time, police said.

The trailers are owned by Riteway Motors of San Francisco.

Wallet Halts Bullet, Bruno Man Arrested

Sudden gunfire on San Bruno's main street last Friday erupted as evidence that a smallish Italian-American shoemaker "Had had enough."

The shoe man, Rocco Campagna, 51, 930 Easton Avenue, was arrested on a charge of attempted murder, and lodged at County Jail. He will be held there, without bail, until appearing in court tomorrow.

The "victim" was John Wichtendahl, 19, 1431 Greenwood Way, San Bruno, who was shot in the hip pocket wallet.

Wichtendahl's wallet and trousers were punctured, say police, but the youth was neither scratched nor bruised.

Officers said the bullet, supposedly from Campagna's .38-calibre revolver, dropped harmlessly to the ground after passing through Wichtendahl's trousers and a "very thick" wallet.

Police say the scene, on the sidewalk in front of Bernard's Shoe Repair at 580 San Mateo Avenue, has been an area of constant problems with teen-agers annoying merchants.

Last night, Campagna told them, the teen-agers had been bothering him again.

In one group was Wichtendahl and four friends. As they passed his shop, innocently, they told officers, Campagna allegedly burst out and started shooting.

Apparently he banged away three times with a short-barreled .38, say police. One bullet went into Wichtendahl's hip pocket, one went into a storefront, across the street, and the third apparently went astray.

When police converged on the area in response to a citizen's call, Campagna welcomed them into his shop, and meekly gave up his weapon, they said.

The shoemaker, who was born in Italy and is of medium height and weight, has apparently been bothered about his Italian accent, police said.

He told them he would not shoot at a police officer, and was led off to jail.

Trade Night At Terra Nova

Trade Night, the only program of its kind to be presented in San Mateo County, will be held for its third year at Terra Nova High School in Pacifica on Thursday March 9.

Presented by the Terra Nova industrial arts department, Trade Night will feature experts representing thirty different occupations who will speak to students and parents about the job requirements and opportunities available. A question-answer period will follow each speaker's presentation.

Each Trade Night participant will select three of the presentations available.

Designed to stimulate students to think about future plans and educational objectives, the Trade Night program will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Rifle, Camera In D.C. Loot

Horse Races

Le Pacini

Next time you win a little booty on a place or show horse, instead of kissing the money and your wife, in that order, mutter a small prayer of thanks to an obscure — and rather incompetent — English silversmith who is responsible for the custom of paying off on second and third-place horses.

It all started in England, in 1512. Until that time, men had always raced horses just for the glory of winning (well, usually, anyway), but in that year the promoters of the Fair in Chester gave a wooden ball, festooned with flowers, as a prize to the winner; the first prize for a horse race winner in recorded history.

In 1540 a silver ball was substituted, and that custom eventually led to the involvement of our hero the silversmith.

In 1609 a racing contest was to be held in Chester, and Sheriff Robert Ambrye was to put up the prize. He contracted our blundering silversmith to make the silver ball. When the smithy ruined it, Ambrye naturally rejected it. The silversmith made a second try, and once again Ambrye was not content. The third ball finally suited him.

NOT KNOWING what to do with the two extra balls, Ambrye decided to award the most ruined silver ball, the first one, to the third-place finisher (which was probably also the first booby prize), and the second ball — a little less ruined than the first one — to the runner-up.

Some cynical historians have fostered the theory that Ambrye, not satisfied with his measly sheriff's salary and burdoned with the Robin Hood Syndrome, skipped Chester with the silver balls and pawned them in London.

These same historians claim that the owner of the pawn shop, being stuck with these three white elephants, decided to ornament the shop with the balls by hanging them up in front of the place.

And you know the rest. (Another pre-eminent historian of our acquaintance, Harry the Horse of San Francisco, adds that the reason why one ball is always below the other two is that it symbolizes two-to-one you don't get out of the joint with what you expected.)

THIS PAWN SHOP story is as good a theory as any, to be objective about it, but that leaves the place and show custom still a mystery, while you must admit that there are plenty of other theories floating around about the pawn shop troika.

We prefer the first theory. It is more romantic to owe our gratitude to a dimwit silversmith than to a crooked sheriff.

So hail to the small town smithy who doubled as village idiot. Little did this man know that someday he would make millions of dollars for American horse players.

Let the first-place horses have the roses. But the runners-up and placers should by all means receive silver balls and chains properly engraved in bronze perspiration, "Under the spreading chestnut tree the village smithy. . . ."

REMEMBER the piece we did on Biddy Basketball a couple of months ago? It looks like we brought Uncle Sam — or at least his nephews — luck, because the United States last week won the Biddy Basketball World Championship at Scranton, Pa., by whipping Ecuador, 44-39.

HOTSTOVE STUFF: Class will tell. Even though they came in tenth place last year, the Yankees set a record doing it. Their winning percentage of .440 was the highest winning percentage ever posted by a last-place team in the American League. But the Giants still hold the all-time record. In 1915 they posted a .454 percentage. Don't forget, however, that the Giants were only an eighth-place team, the Yanks a tenth.

The Giants also hold the highest team batting average since the turn of the century, in 1930 whacking away at a .319 clip.

Ted Williams continues to amaze us, even though he's been retired now for six years. One of his little known but most fantastic records, for our money, is his record for most consecutive times reaching base safely — 16.

He did it in 1957, and here's how: He hit a pinch-hit homer; walked as a pinch-hitter; homered as a pinch-hitter; hit a homer and drew three walks (Mgr. Pinky Higgins figured it was about time to play him first string); drew two more walks, hit a measly single, and then crashed another homer; singled, had three more walks, and was finally retaliated against, being hit with a pitched ball.

LOCAL NOTES: Recently we mentioned ex-Westmoorite Terry Christman being in the Mets' roster as a first baseman, and that was no misprint, even though some of you may remember our reporting during last season of Terry's having won 11 games at Williamsport.

How Terry suddenly became a "hitter" with that kind of a pitching record happened like this: Williamsport had a sudden rash of outfield injuries, but was relatively loaded with pitchers.

As you may know, minor league teams like Williamsport don't carry the big rosters, and pitchers who can hit often have to fill in during even minor emergencies.

So Christman went to the outfield. Rival pitchers, says Terry, figured, "Oh, only a pitcher," and began throwing him fast balls down the pipe. Terry got hot and for a pretty good stretch was hitting in the .340's and .350's, the Mets heard about it, sent the order down to leave Terry hitting even when the outfield emergency was over.

Christman finished up at .288 and played an acceptable outfield. Knowing Terry to have been a good fielding first sacker in high school and later at San Francisco State, the Mets, as previously mentioned, are now giving him the shot at the gateway. Baseball is indeed a funny game.

And a South City boy from Serra High, Allan Laganucci, is working himself into the pitching rotation. Last year he was a second team All-CAL chucker, and included in his record a 16 strikeout no-hitter against Bellarmine.

Frosh-Sophs Shine

Preliminary Tilt Provides Thrills

Falcons Defeated 57-47

By CRAIG BECKHEYER
Post Sports Writer

They played the usual prep double header Friday night at Burlingame high school with one rather unusual twist. The "preliminary" soph-frosh game stole the spotlight from the main event varsity clash.

Burlingame's lightweights erupted for a 21-point fourth iod to turn back a determined Crestmoor five, 57-47, and virtually wrap up the Frosh-Soph championship. In the varsity contest, the Falcons turned the tables to defeat the Panther big boys, 65-63, in a down to the wire struggle that unfortunately, meant very little.

Bill Beuttler turned in another fine soph-frosh performance for the title-bound Kittens in scoring 21 points to lead the way for the winners. The victory was Burlingame's eighth against three losses and gives them undisputed possession of first place with one game left. Only an upset by Hillsdale in the league finale could force a title tie.

If the varsity game lacked anything in the way of real importance, it more than made up for it in excitement. With nine seconds left on the clock and the score 65-63, Crestmoor, Burlingame had one final shot at a tie to climax a frantic struggle that had seen the score change hands three times in the final period.

Barry Ongerth tried a jumper from the corner with five seconds left, missed, rebounded the shot and fired again, off balance and in closer. The buzzer sounded with the ball in mid-air, but this shot, too, was off the mark to give Crestmoor its fifth win of the season against six losses.

It was ironic that Ongerth should have been the man to miss the crucial attempt. The diminutive guard had played one of his finest games of the season in throwing in 14 points and garnering 8 rebounds up until that point.

Midway through the third period, however, came the break that was to decide things. Steve Connolly, the Cats big and talented center left the game with four fouls and Burlingame ahead 46-43. Larry Grant, Steve Griffith and Don Broga immediately led a charge that saw Crestmoor in front, 53-48, four minutes later.

With 5:20 remaining, Panther Coach Frank Bettendorf put his ace back in trailing, 56-55, and Steve promptly hit two soft hooks to move the host five in from 59-56. It was here, however, that Rick Weinburger tallied four of his six points to give the Falcons the boost they needed to win.

WESTMOOR WRESTLERS Bob Morris, left, Ken Barfield, center, and Dick Thill display the North Peninsula League Championship trophy their team won last month. The three wrestlers were selected to compete in the Northern California Invitational Tournament last week.

NPL Wrestlers In Tournament

Eight North Peninsula League wrestlers were among the competitors in the sixteenth annual Northern California Invitational Tournament Saturday at Sacramento.

Westmoor's Bob Morris, outstanding performer in the 138-pound class this season, took third place in his division, winning four of five matches.

South San Francisco's Armand Bret, last year's tournament champion in the 95-pound division, failed to repeat his winning performance and was twice defeated and eleminated in the fourth round.

Other N.P.L. wrestlers competing in the tournament were Ken Barfield and Dick Thill, Westmoor; Jim Bonner, Terra Nova; Bill Polson, Oceana, and Jim Lynch, South San Francisco High.

Pacifica Swim Program

Registration for the Pacifica Recreation Department's Spring "Learn to Swim" program will be held Saturday at Sharp Park School, 10 a.m.-1 p.m.

The special "Learn to Swim" program will be held during Easter vacation, March 18-23, and the regular Saturday swim lessons will be offered 10 consecutive Saturdays, beginning April 8.

The Easter holiday program is open to children "at least three years old and under 48 inches tall," and the classes will be held 1 p.m.-1:30 p.m.

Registration fees for residents are $2.50 per child. Non-resident fees are $3 per child.

Another class for older children will be offered during the holidays. Children wishing to enroll in this class, which is designed for beginners, must be at least 48 inches tall. Fees for residents are $2 per child, and non-resident fees are $2.50 per child.

Classes for children in this division will be offered at 2 p.m., 2:45 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. each day.

The Saturday classes will also offer instruction for "tiny tots" and children beginners. These classes will meet each Saturday afternoon, with the smaller children's classes beginning at 1 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. and the other classes at 2 p.m., 2:30 p.m. and 3 p.m.

OLPH Teams Will Play In S.F. Tourney

Five basketball teams representing the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades from Our Lady of Perpetual Help School in Daly City, will take on teams from Corpus Christi School of San Francisco Sunday at Riordan High School gym.

Admission to the "Sunday Afternoon of Basketball," complete with cheer leaders, professional referees, announcers and door prizes, will be 50 cents for adults, and 25 cents for children. Refreshments will be available.

Tickets may be purchased after the Sunday Masses at OLPH Church, 80 Wellington Avenue, Daly City, or may be obtained by calling the rectory.

Members of the parish organizations of both parishes will also have tickets available, or they may be purchased at the door Sunday afternoon.

The first game will start at 11:30 a.m. Tournament Chairman for OLPH is Jerry Murphy.

Cap Faculty Playing KYO

A Capuchino High School faculty basketball team, composed mainly of coaches, will face the KYA Oneders at 8 p.m. in the Cap gym.

On the faculty squad are football coach Gordy Young, track coach Vince Marchi, basketball coaches Jim Johnson and Ernie Schnurpfiel, P.E. staffer Chris Miller plus vice-principal Paul Baldwin and business administration teacher Archie Marsnik.

Proceeds from ticket sale, at $1.25 for students and $1.50 for others, will benefit the faculty scholarship fund and the Block C society.

Men's Adult League Meets

The first meeting of the Pacifica Recreation Department's 1967 Men's Adult Softball League will be held next Wednesday night at Oddstad Center.

A recreation department spokesman said all players interested in participating in the league this year should attend the meeting, which begins at 8 p.m.

League rules on organization, fees, and sponsorship of teams will be discussed at the meeting.

Daly City Dentist Makes S.F. City Tourney Finals

Dr. Jack Luceti, a Daly City resident who yanks molars as his official occupation, will discard his dentist's smock next Sunday and attempt to wrest the San Francisco City Golf title away from Sacramento's Bob Smith.

Luceti moved into next Sunday's 36-hole finals with Smith by drilling Guy Bill, 4 and 3. Smith, a recent Sacramento State College graduate, had an even easier trip over the Harding Park fairways, sidelining Ross Randall, 5 and 4.

In the most interesting match of the day, young Marie Strand of San Bruno had to scramble on the final hole to pull out a one-up victory over little Marsha Houghton of Modesto.

Marie, a 19-year-old College of San Mateo student, will meet Mrs. Linda Mauer in the women's finals Saturday morning. The latter defeated Carol Bowman, 1-up also.

In yesterday's match between Marie and her 17-year-old opponent from Davis High School in Modesto, the issue was decided after the gals had hit their drives. Miss Strand's second shot landed in a trap, but the little mite from Modesto crushed a two-iron which sailed over the green and onto a black-topped road. The CSM co-ed blasted a picture shot out of the trap which landed four feet from the pin.

In the meantime, Miss Houghton dubbed her shot from the road and sent her next one scurrying past the pin. The disappointed, but game lass, then strode across the green to Marie and shook her hand.

'Swim Night'

Pacifica Recreation Department officials announced a change in the "Family Swim Night" program currently being conducted at the Terra Nova High School pool this week.

The "swim night" time has been changed from 7 p.m.-9 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.-8:30 p.m. each Monday.

Westlake Bowl

The organizational meeting for the Westlake Merchants "Fun League" will be held at the Westlake Bowl next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Many merchants in the Westlake area have made plans to be represented by teams or individuals. Teams will be formed from those representatives of stores not having sufficient members to form their own team. Further information may be obtained by calling Rick Dreier at 756-5777.

Randy Wilcox took first prize of $100 in the Washington Birthday Swiss Sweeper as he won five games without a loss and knocked down a total of 1,157 pins. Second prize of $50 went to Rich Hendricks while Leon Aragon took home $30 for third place. Paul Barkley won fourth prize of $15. Another Swiss Sweeper will be held in the near future.

Westlake Bowlers extend sincere best wishes for a speedy recovery to Fern Benedetti, popular league secretary.

A terrific 640 series by George Boehle topped the Inter-Parish League for the week. George had two games of 235 and a 170 second game.

Leading lady in the 850 Scratch Classic was Mary Paxton with games of 234-191-180 for a 605 total.

With a banner opening day squad, the Sixth Annual Westlake Easter Classic started last Wednesday and will run until after the Easter vacation. Junior Director Marge Brown reports that entries are expected from all parts of the state.

Dave Folb averaged over the two hundred mark to lead the Sunday evening 510 Mixed Scratch Trio League last week. Dave had games of 209-222-203 and 200 for a four game series of 834.

Bob Wells topped the Bankers' League for the week with a 604 series on a high game of 233.

Arlene Keough and Mel Cristani were high for the week in the Mixed-Up Fives League. Arlene bowled 168-485 and Mel had a 207 game and 587 series.

Nadine Koss was the leading lady in the Thursday morning B'nai B'rith League with a 174 game and 483 series.

Craig Headman and Tom Brodie led the Sunday morning Family Fours League as Craig shot 245—641 and Tom had 230 and 606.

Bowler of the week in the Friendship Trio League was Tom Harrop with a 228 game and 575 series.

Dave Figair led the Lake Merced Handicap League for the second consecutive week, this time with a 605 series on games of 173-204 and 208. Second honors went to Ray Wozniak with a 604 series and a high game of 210.

Ev Terminello again led the Bankers' League, this time with games of 178-246 and 193 for a 617 series.

Instructors Course Opens At Pacifica

A 12-week "water safety instructor course" will be conducted at Terra Nova High School beginning March 29.

The course will consist of two parts, with classes to be held 7 p.m.-10 p.m. each night.

A Pacifica Recreation Department spokesman said all applicants for the course should have a current senior lifesaving certificate and be at least 17 years old.

Fees for the course, which will be conducted by the recreation department, are $3.50 for residents and $4 for non-residents.

Honor Coach At El Camino

Warren Hagberg, science instructor and basketball coach at El Camino High School, was chosen as the recipient of the Honorary Life Membership bestowed by the El Camino High P-TA. Hagberg was honored for his work with individual children, Boy Scouts, Sunday School in his church, and as coordinator of the South San Francisco Science Fair as well as his association this year with the Bay Area Science Fair. The award was presented by Mrs. Earle Pierce, at the February 7 general meeting.

MRS. VIRGINIA BUNNER, left, president of the San Francisco Women's Bowling Association, is admiring the diamond ring awarded to Doreen Daneri for her 300 game. The presentation was made at the Westlake Bowl, where Doreen spent four years in the junior program before moving into W.I.B.C. competition.

Residents Lose Battle

The original alignment for the extension of Westborough Boulevard between Junipero Serra Boulevard and Mission Road in South San Francisco was approved by the County Board of Supervisors last week over the protests of a delegation of angry residents.

The chosen route will do the things the residents were up in arms about:

It will require the uprooting of an estimated 100 century-old cypress trees along the northern edge of the California Golf Club.

It will mean the destruction of scenic twelve-mile Creek; it will mean that the highway will be built on an earthen fill that in some places will be higher than the roofs of the houses.

It will mean that property will be taken for the right of way from the back yards of a dozen homes on Escanyo Drive.

Supervisors voted for the route originally proposed after member of the county engineer's office said it would cost another $1 million to put the highway where the residents want it — entirely on the golf course property south of the cypress trees.

The hearing took a heated turn when Mrs. Mary Ortner, spokesman for the Rancho Buri-Buri Homeowners Association declared that a speech made by South San Francisco City Councilman Andrew Rocca in support of the county's plans for the roadway was "disgraceful." Her outburst was applauded by the 30 members of her delegation.

Rocca jumped to his feet and demanded to know what was "disgraceful" about what he had said. Mrs. Ortner was only able to reply, "Because you tried to confuse the issue" before Board Chairman Jean Fassler rapped for order and stopped the debate.

Westmoor Hi Students In USC Contest

Two Westmoor High seniors have won honorable mention in the University of Santa Clara's High School mathematics contest. The students are James Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reed of 74 Santa Elena, and Richard Tosetti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tossetti of 879 Southgate.

Held in December, this was the ninth annual contest sponsored by the university, and 713 students from 89 high schools participated. The two Westmoor students placed in the 90 to 99 percentile division.

Jim, who compiled the highest score at Westmoor in the 1966 National Math Exam, received a National Science Foundation Grant to study mathematics at U.C. last summer.

Rich Tosetti, a life member of the California Scholarship Federation, is president of the Science Club and one of the Math Club tutors. Last year he received the Chemistry Student of the Year award.

IN TRAINING

Philip West, son of Mrs. Ralph Black of 752 Edgemar, Pacifica, is now undergoing basic training at Fort Lewis, Wash. His brother, Richard West, is returning from 15 months' service in the Philippine Islands. He will be reasigned to a minesweeper whose home port is Long Beach.

Traffic Signals Set for Pacifica

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan (D-South San Francisco) today announced traffic signals at the intersection of State Highway Route 1 and Rockaway Beach Avenue (Hewitt Avenue) in the City of Pacifica will be installed by the end of summer.

There was some confusion as to the date of construction, and since the State Highway Division seemed not to understand what date the signals were installed, Assemblyman Ryan contacted the Governor. The Governor told the Assemblyman the installation of the traffic signal completion would be advanced from the 1968-69 year to the 1967-68 fiscal year.

The same day that Assemblyman Ryan received the news from the Governor, he was visisted in his office in Sacramento by Division of Highways Traffic Engineer J. E. Wilson and David L. Wieman, Supervisng Highway Engineer, Urban Planning Department of the Division of Highways. They told him the signal light would receive top priority . . . that as soon as channelization of the intersection was worked out, an arrangement would be made with the City of Pacifica. "The price tag would be $20,000-$25,000," they told Assemblyman Ryan, "with the state and the city roughly footing the bill 50-50, or 60-40."

Assemblyman Ryan went to the top of the command in getting the Junipero Serra-Clay Boulevard pedestrian overpass, so on this matter, he went to the top. His only comment was, "Teamwork. That's the only way, go right to the top."

TEENS

Terra Nova High School students will be on the lookout for "The Big Green Ugly" this week. The finder will receive a record album of his or her choice.

Oddstad will hold a Teen Club Dance this Friday evening from 8 to 11:30. The balcony area has been redecorated for this dance. Admission will be 75 cents for members and $1.75 for nonmembers.

Oceana Teen Club cards will be sold every Wednesday evening at the Oceana Co-Rec. Price is $1. There will be no Co-Rec February 22.

J-Teen Club meetings will be held as scheduled this week: Monday: Westview, Vallemar; Tuesday: Ortega; Wednesday: Cabrillo; Friday: Sharp Park.

There will be no Cabrillo J-Teen meeting today.

Terra Nova Teen Club meetings are held every Thursday night from 7-8 at Oddstad Center.

Oceana Teen Club meetings are held every Tuesday afternoon from 3:30-4:30 in the Pomo Hut in Pomo Park.

Residents Plan Service Program

Talented residents from the north county will join in a mammoth USO show, planned for recent returnees from Vietnam, sailors from the Alameda-based carrier, USS Coral Sea.

Combining all the musical groups at her disposal, Patti Parks Stolz, of the Jefferson High School adult education staff, will take members of the Bells 'n Beaus Chorus, and students of the Voice Workshop, as well as "The Entertainers," into the Lutheran Servicemen's Center, 966 Market Street, San Francisco, March 3, for a two-hour show.

Bob Meyers, local dancer, owner of the Bob Meyers Dance Workshops, in Pacifica and South San Francisco, will enter several specialty dance acts, and assist Patti as emcee of the show.

The show will be a special welcome for the many young servicemen aboard the Coral Sea, who find the center a "home away from home" when in the Bay Area. For Patti, it will be a special birthday party event, and the eighth such package show taken into the club.

Local residents featured in this stage show include Betty Elliott and Marlene Hansen, Paul Brinley and Walter Jeter Jr., of "The Entertainers," and chorus soloists Helen Governale, Phyllis Estrem, Doreen Marlow, and Kay Kaufman.

LOTS OF TV

Only 6.2 per cent of U.S. households were without television in the most recent government survey.

DEFENDERS

Rains Cause Street Damage

Pacifica City Engineer Kenneth Thompson this week estimated flood damage to two streets over San Pedro Creek will total approximately $3,800.

Thompson said the lining of the creek underpass at Capistrano Street was washed out during heavy rains last month, and a section of Silva Court was washed away after a fallen tree blocked the creek bed.

NEGRO PLAY INVITED TO INTERNATIONAL FESTIVAL

PARIS — "Trumpets of the Lord," an off-Broadway musical which has been on European tour for two years, has been invited to take part in the International Theater Festival next summer.

Jean-Louis Barrault, in charge of the program, saw the production during the original New York run in 1964. If financial details can be worked out, the all-Negro entertainment also plans to take part in festivals at Spoleto, Italy, and Edinburgh, then go to London.

South San Francisco Takes League Championship Again

Jefferson Helps Warrior Cause

One of the weirdest North Peninsula League basketball races in history ended rather unexpectedly Friday night with defending champion South San Francisco High School repeating as the league titleholder.

The Warriors smashed a hapless squad from El Camino High School, 73-45, while Terra Nova, which had been tied with the Warriors for first place was dumped rather unceremoniously by Jefferson, 45-40.

It had been expected that the league race would end in a two-way, and possibly a three-way tie with SSF, Terra Nova and Westmoor having to play off for the right to enter the Peninsula Basketball Tournament. But the Warriors would have none of that.

Capitalizing on the sieve-like defense of El Camino, the Warriors blasted open the ball game with 30 points in the second period while El Camino could manage only eight.

Leading 21-16 the Warriors scored the next 16 consecutive points and then put together another string of eight after an El Camino basket to make the game a complete runaway after that.

"We really wanted this one," said winning coach Bill Purcell. "The boys were really clicking tonight with both their passes and their rebounding."

SSF's passing game, led by slick Larry Alsterlind, was almost too good to be effective, especially in the first half. Twice in a row the Warriors' fast break failed to lead to a score because Alsterlind and fellow guard Ron Mazzoncini passed about five times apiece which drove the defensive man crazy but neither time led to a bucket.

By halftime both teams were just going through the motions. El Camino never threatened and the Warriors were content to keep a 30-point bulge the rest of the way.

Forward Ron Beall continued his torrid scoring pace with 27 more Friday night. Alsterlind, besides his fabulous passing game, garnered 13 points and played well on defense.

"We practiced all week on stopping (Steve) Jones," Purcell noted. "We knew he could score and we wanted to bottle him up and as he got only 12 points I feel we did a real good job."

Losing coach Warren Hagberg had just one comment after the game: "We were blitzed. Just plain blitzed."

The Warriors should find it in their hearts to send at least a note of thanks to Mike Orlich's Jefferson Indians for the job they did on Terra Nova.

Playing a deliberate offense and a strong defense, the Indians bottled up the high-scoring front line of the Tigers with just three points in the first quarter and 14 for the half.

Willie Redmond, playing his final game for the Indians, flipped through 18 points for high-scoring honors while the only double-figure scoring the Tigers could muster was Jim Bresnahan's 17.

The win was only Jefferson's fifth in 12 tries but it was a satisfying one for Orlich, who upended his former student, Tiger coach Don Delbon.

Sporting a tenacious zone defense that held Oceana to no field goals in the third quarter and only five for the half, the Westmoor Rams ended a successful season with a 58-43 victory over the Sharks yesterday afternoon.

Oceana stayed close until halftime. After that the Sharks were victimized by their sloppiest passing of the year. Westmoor capitalized on numerous Oceana turnovers to up their lead to 20 points midway through the third quarter.

"We kept the pressure on Tim Sershan and Mike Burger (the two Shark guards)," Giannonna noted. "We knew we could beat them if we kept those two from breaking loose for too many points."

The Rams' biggest lead was 21 points at 49-28 early in the fourth period. Substitutes flowed quickly in and out of the game or the score would not have been as close as it was.

But the Rams had too much to hope for. They needed a win — which they got; they needed a Jefferson victory over Terra Nova — which they got; and they needed an El Camino victory over SSF — which didn't materialize.

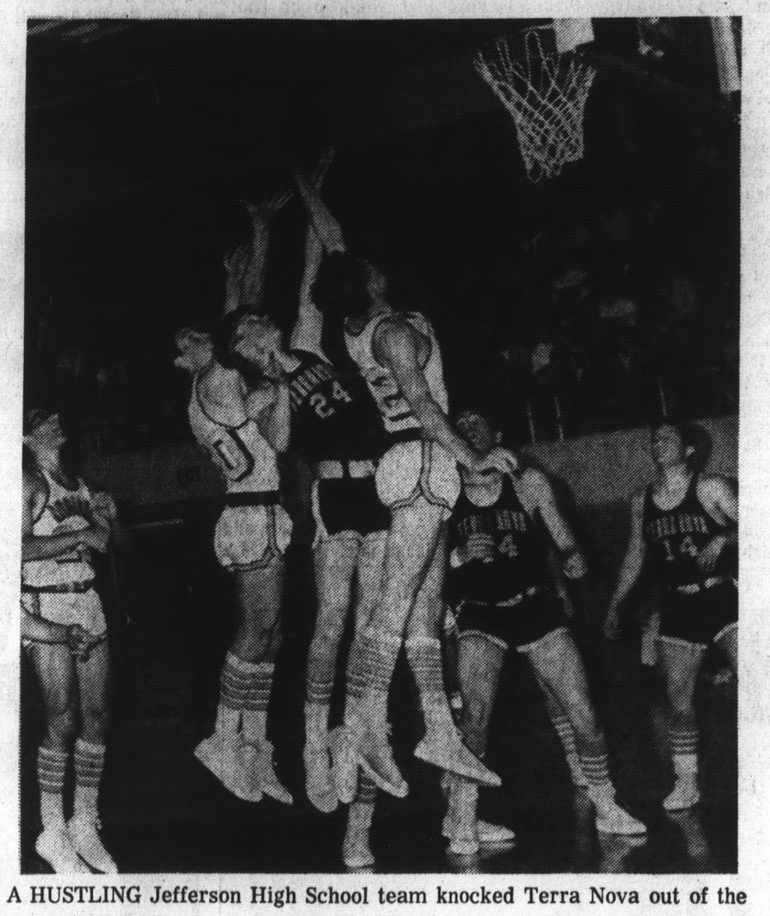
So Friday night the South San Francisco fans took their turn at the yell that has been almost synonymous with the top three in the NPL — "We're number one". There's not much disputing that now.

GENARO DEAD

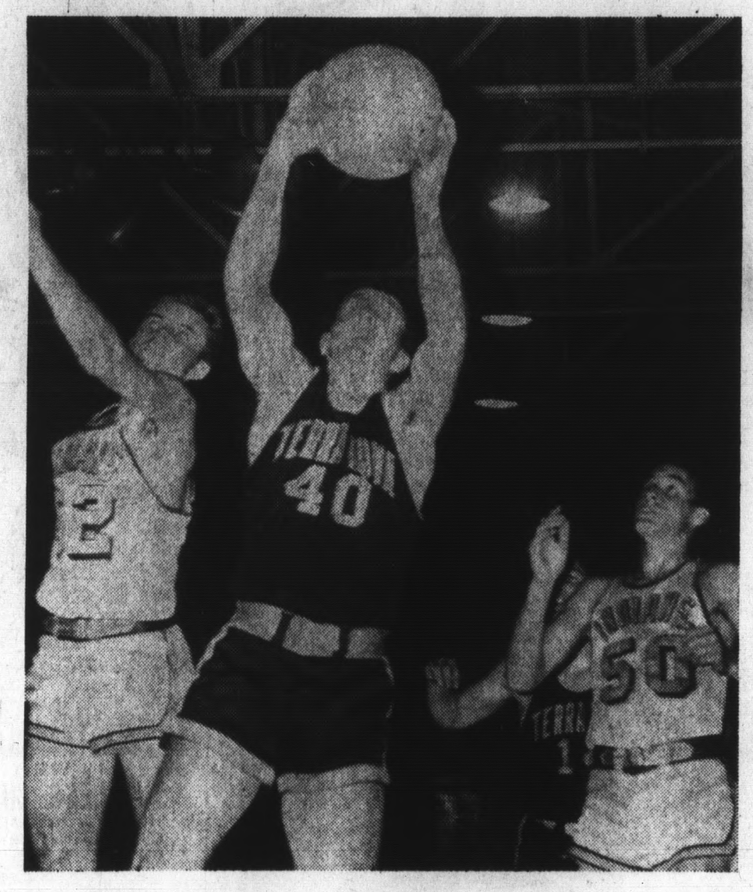
NEW YORK (UPI) —Frankie Genaro, a former world flyweight and Olympic boxing champion, died Tuesday in Polyclinic Hospital following a long illness.

Genaro, 65, won the American title from Pancho Villa of the Philippines in 1923 and took the world crown with a decision over Frenchy Belanger in 1929. He won 83 of 129 pro fights.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Flanker Lance Alworth caught 73 passes for the San Diego Chargers in 1966 to set a new club record.



A HUSTLING Jefferson High School team knocked Terra Nova out of the North Peninsula League championship running last Friday upsetting the Tigers 45-40. It was only the fifth win of the season for the Indians, but a "satisfying one" for coach Mike Orlich. The Terra Nova coach, Don Delbon, is one of Orlich's former students. (Post Photo)



TERRA NOVA'S Kenny rushed in for a short set in Friday night's Jefferson-Terra Nova tilt, with Indians Kirby, 52, and Schrock, 50, in hot pursuit. Jeff upset Terra Nova 45-40, and knodked the Coastside netters out of league campionship contention. South San Francisco repeated last year's performance and captured the title with a 73-45 victory over El Camino.

Cap, S.M. Match Today Could Decide MPL Title

By RON REID

Surviving the heart-pounding pressure chamber that was their own gymnasium, Capuchino High School's basketball team surfaced to the top of the Mid Peninsula League standings Friday night to breathe deep the sweet, heady air of revenge and a prospective championship.

In one of the most dramatic, thrill-packed contests of the MPL season, Capuchino fought off the alien Hillsdale Knights and an idiot kid of their own for a 62-61 double overtime victory and the Mustangs' biggest step yet toward the title they last won six years ago.

Sal DeLuca, growing ever stronger as the game progressed amid a scene of shrieking, screaming fanaticism, scored all the Mustangs' five points in the second extra stanza, clinching the big victory on an 18-foot set shot with but 15 seconds left to play.

And but for a matter of centimeters, Hillsdale still might have won it. On the ensuing inbounds play, Hillsdale's Dave Carpenter moved upcourt, shot from 25 feet and watched in agony as the ball hit the rim and caromed off to the side while the buzzer sounded the Knights' death knell.

"It was a crime someone had to lose a game like that," Hillsdale Coach Homer Zugelder said later in the emotion-spent aura of the team dressing room.

His sentiments were echoed by Cap's Jimmy Johnson, who saw his charges overcome Hillsdale's lead four times after the midway point of the fourth quarter. "We were lucky and they were lucky," he said.

Ironically, in a game marked by stunning heroics for both teams on the court, the issue was almost decided by unsportsmanlike conduct in the stands.

Roger Carmine, a southpaw whose shooting touch is a safecracker's envy, sank two free throws with 0:09 left in regulation to give Cap a 56-55 lead. At that juncture, it looked insurmountable.

But when Hillsdale tried to inbound the ball, the Knights were hampered by an overzealous Cap freshman, who decided to throw his coat on the sizeable back of Rick Wilkinson.

The interference was duly detected by the referee, who rightly penalized Cap with a technical foul after confirming with the honest Johnson that the youngster, in fact, was a Cap student.

If ever a lad came close to being disowned, that was the moment.

Hillsdale center Mark Wilson sank the gift free throw and the jam-packed, overflow crowd moved one step closer to mass apoplexy as the contest went into overtime.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

By Donald C. Waite

SHOPPING SHOULD BE FUN

I don't know which is worse —walking into a store where an "eager-beaver" salesman tries to high pressure you into a sale before you've had a chance to look around, or the type of store where they pay no attention to you whatsoever and you eventually walk out feeling completely neglected.

Don't you think the happy medium is best? We believe in the type of store where you can feel relaxed and browse around without being pushed and still receive help when you want it.

And if you want help it will be given by courteous salesmen who are employed because they are knowledgeable in the furniture profession and are sincere in their desire to be helpful.

Because of the methods used by the personnel of many establishments, shoppers enter the stores feeling apprehensive and fearful of high pressure, or they enter a store and are afraid they'll get no friendly help. This is really a shame because shopping for things for the home should and could be fun.

We invite you to visit our store where shopping IS fun.

Our decorators, here at Sterling Furniture in Westlake Shopping Center, are at your service no matter what your decorating problem may be. We are open Wednesday and Friday evenings 'til 9 p.m. for your shopping convenience or call PL 6-7500.

Pacifica Building Activity

Building permits issued last week for the construction of new houses in Pacifica totaled more than $150,000.

Eight permits were issued to Henry Doelger Builder, Inc., for construction of houses on Forest Park Drive in Fairmont Park Subdivision.

Five of the Fairmont Park dwellings will be valued at $13,564 and three at $15,523.

Two permits were issued to Challenge Development, Inc., for houses at 1043 Yosemite, $15,209, and 1032 Park Pacifica, $15,209.

Man Hurt In Pistol Accident

Dave Alderman, 23-year-old San Franciscan, was treated for a gunshot wound in the little finger of his left hand last week after a .32-caliber revolver accidentally discharged.

Alderman, according to Pacifica firemen at Linda Mar who gave emergency first aid, was at the Coastside Sportsman pistol and rifle range in the Linda Mar area at the time of the mishap, about 3:30 p.m.

He was loading a round into the chamber of the revolver. The bullet did not go in easily and Alderman forced it into the chamber. The round discharged, lodging in Alderman's finger, which was extended over the barrel, a fire department spokesman said.

Alderman was treated further at Mary's Help Hospital and released.

Fire Sweeps Coast Floor

Mike Lydon of 422 Vista Mar in the Pacific Manor section of Pacifica escaped injury last Wednesday when gasoline he was using to scrub his garage floor was ignited by a natural gas water heater.

Lydon, Pacifica fire officials said, had poured gasoline on the floor to remove oil spots when the fire started shortly after 11 a.m.

He was able to extinguish most of the blaze before firemen arrived. It scorched the garage interior and caused slight damage to several pieces of commercial type garage machinery, tools and items on shelves.

Lydon told firemen he had used gasoline from a five-gallon can that was half-filled.

Bartender Is Jailed

A South San Francisco bartender was arrested on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon last Tuesday after allegedly clobbering an elderly man with a pool cue.

Pierce H. Anglin, 48, 568 Baden Avenue, South San Francisco, was lodged at County Jail, to be held without bail until appearing in court.

Paul C. Gruber, 73, 940 Green Avenue, was the reported victim.

Police said they were told Gruber had entered the San Bruno Cocktail Club at 677 San Mateo Avenue at about 6:15 p.m., and had got into a disagreement.

Anglin reportedly said Gruber started to choke him, claiming that Anglin had at one time cheated the older man.

INSTEAD OF STATE MONEY

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Pupils in 60 North Carolina schools are seeing a professional acting company this year, thanks to some emergency bank financing.

Through a legislative oversight, state funds were not made available for Lyn Ely's Theater in Education, a group from New York which has made annual visits to the state for several years, enacting a program of Shakespearean scenes.

State Treasurer Edwin Gill remedied the lapse by obtaining goodwill contributions totaling $25,000 from several leading banks.

S.S.F. Science Fair Sets Its Calendar

Sixth annual South San Francisco Science Fair will be held in the El Camino High School cafeteria March 8-11, according to Jackson Trippy, science fair co-ordinator.

Students eligible to participate include the fourth to the twelfth grades in all South San Francisco public, private and parochial schools. Judges will include South San Francisco businessmen and teachers as well as representatives from colleges in the Bay Area.

Projects are to be installed in the El Camino cafeteria on March 7 and 8 from 2:30 to 5 p.m. and judging will be Thursday, March 9 from 7 to 9 p.m.

The Science Fair will be open to the public Friday, March 10, from 5 to 9 p.m. and Saturday, March 11, until 3 p.m. Projects may be cleared from the cafeteria beginning Saturday, March 11 at 3 p.m. Projects must be dismantled and completely removed from the area by Monday, March 13 from 3 to 5 or 7 to 8 p.m.

Prizes to be awarded include a $50 grand prize; four $25 first prizes in each division (4-6, 7-8, 9-10 and 11-12 grades); four $10 second prizes in each division; four $5 third prizes in each division and 27 merit awards for the first, second and third winners in each grade.

The projects to be submitted may pertain to any phase of science, according to the fair coordinator. Each student must do all the actual work himself but may have advice from others.

Mongan Scholarship Fund

A concerted campaign to raise $8,000 in three-months' time for the John P. Mongan Scholarship fund was launched today at Jefferson High School in Daly City.

Faculty, alumni and others will be contacted for contributions toward the scholarship which commemorates the memory of the late John Mongan, who was principal of Jefferson High since 1956 and a faculty member since 1938.

Campaign chairman Dion Dubois announced that plans are also underway for various other fund-raising activities, such as the annual school spring festival and a drama and musical presentation, with the proceeds going toward the scholarship which was designed to aid needy high school students to go to college.

The John Mongan scholarship was established shortly after his death in 1966 by teachers and staff of Jefferson High School. It has a unique intent in that the scholarship is not awarded to the most academically talented persons.

"It was John Mongan's strong belief," said Mrs. Mongan, who now teaches at Jefferson, "that the bright student who for one reason or another was unable to excel academically, should be most worthy of aid and encouragement in obtaining further education. And I am happy that the memorial scholarship fund has been created to help this kind of student because John would have liked."

The rules governing the selection of qualified students are several and explicit.

They state that the student must have a social conscience; that his self-esteem would be bolstered by such an award; that he should have made unusual personal, social and academic advances throughout his high school education; shown promise for success in college and beyond; been involved in activities to better the school, be one who would work hard toward personal fulfillment, and, finally, the student should be one who would not otherwise receive a scholarship to college.

The first two students to receive the scholarships last year were Robert Bias and Carol Gillmore, both of whom are now attending college. Announcement of the scholarship awards is made at the annual commencement ceremonies.

The Scholarship Selection Committee includes faculty members, Mrs. Mongan, District Superintendent Edward Morgan, and three members of the Daly City community who represent business, the professions and the trades. Presently these three are Elio Fontana, Peter J. Markovich and Tony Giammona.

Contributions should be made out to the John P. Mongan Scholarship Fund, and mailed to Jefferson High School, 6996 Mission Street, Daly City.

Dubois stated that $8,000 more is needed to bring the fund to a $10,000 total, a figure which would make the scholarship self-perpetuating.

"Contributions needn't be large," he said. "What we need are hundreds of modest contributions from the many friends of John Mongan who would like to perpetuate, in a very real and worthwhile manner, the memory of a man whose educational contributions continue to be felt in the community."

John Mongan came to Jefferson in 1938. That year he set up the school's first counseling system, served as dean of boys, taught history and even coached football. He worked through the ranks to become principal of the school in 1956, serving in that capacity until his death in 1966.

His many civic duties included membership on the Child Adoption Board, the governing board of the San Mateo County Council of Social Agencies, and the County's Child Guidance Clinic, of which he was one of the founders.

Time To Start Shaping Garden

By IVA NEWMAN

As we wrote this column it was Washington's birthday and according to the calendar there is still a good two weeks until spring but this year the plants and pests forgot to consult the calendar.

Our day started with a quick run down to the lower garden to cut a basket of Bearss limes to take to a friend later in the day. We found a baby snail snugly attached to one of the leaves. Next, we saw a big family of aphids enjoying a holiday meal on the new growth of one of the roses.

Last year we had snow fall in our garden on March but this year, had we listened, we would have heard Mother Nature announcing some weeks ago that Spring was upon us. The acacias carry the first warning that Spring is on the way. Next, came the crocus, followed quickly by the blossoming plums and the daffodils.

These are the things that warn the gardener to be alert to the needs of the plants in his care for with warm days and new growth the pests begin to emerge from their winter hiding places and the soil loses more moisture during the day than the dew and fog can return at night.

Our day's plans altered quickly. The new growth on the roses had to be protected immediately or we would have misshapen buds and flowers. We had fertilized the rose beds and watered the fertilizer into the soil just a couple of days ago so the plants were protected from absorbing too much of the insecticide. We decided to use the rather new systemic 'cygon 2-E' as a spray, on the canes getting as little of the spray solution on the tender new growth as possible. Last year when we saw our first aphids we used this same material right from the bottle to paint one-inch wide bands on the canes that were two years old or older. The bands were placed eight inches above the bud union. Our roses were completely free of aphids until after the Rose Show in May.

Next we checked the soil around the Japanese iris which now stand about four inches high and the sweet peas which are about the same height. It was much too dry for good growth so hoses were dragged into position and watering started. Then we checked the peonies but found the soil in this area still contained sufficient moisture for several days.

Check Before Watering

Don't water automatically this time of year. Water is expensive and shouldn't be wasted but even more important is the air that is needed by the roots of the plants. Soil that is too wet is lacking in air so keep the soil moist but not wet. The old squeeze test is still the best test for the average amateur. When in doubt about watering, dig a hole six or seven inches deep, take a slice of soil along one side and squeeze it in your hand if when you open out your fingers the soil stays in a ball marked with your fingers it is plenty moist but if the soil ball falls apart or crumbles it needs moisture.

A STREET SCENE in San Mateo that is repeated many times in many parts of the city as the popular purple-leafed flowering plums open their bright pink blossoms to herald the coming of a new spring.

We next moved to stop the snails and slugs from eating the foliage of our plants. We scattered pelleted bait around the citrus, in the rose beds and under all the shrubs and vines. We followed this with the hose giving the different areas just enough water to soften the hard pellets to make them more attractive.

Our next free day we will use one of the liquid slug and snail eradicaters as these penetrate the soil and get these pests while they are still hiding. The liquids take time to apply but they are the most effective for such tender plants as the hostas and annuals. The hosta shoots are just pushing through the surface now and unless they are protected the slugs and snails chew on these shoot tips then, when the ornamental leaves unfurl they are full of holes. We have found that one good application, given according to the directions on the bottle, will protect the plants until the leaves are completely unfurled.

We will also have to rush to finish up our pruning. We still have a half dozen roses and some hydrangeas to do. The new growth on these plants will serve as a guide for our shears and it will warn us to get the wounds painted with tree seal without delay as the sap is moving and will be lost through an open wound. In addition, an open would, at this time of year, is in danger of becomming a next for the eggs of the cane borer.

Miniature Cymbidium Orchid Is Growing in Popularity

The Miniature Cymbidium Orchid is growing in popularity so fast that nurserymen have difficulty keeping blooming plants in stock.

We have been growing these miniature cymbidiums for some years. Our first plant was a gift from Otto Schroller, 215 Channing Way, Burlingame, an enthusiastic orchid grower with one of the finest collections of cymbidiums, large and small, to be found locally. We were a bit reluctant to take such a lovely plant as we have no greenhouse in which to grow it. Otto assured us that our gift plant would be perfectly happy in a protected part of our garden and it was.

Home and Garden

Possibly one of the reasons the miniature cymbidium is becomming so popular so fast is that it can be grown outside in the garden with a minimum of fuss and bother. Also, contributing to the popularity, I'm sure, is the size of the plant and its very showy spikes of bloom. They fit easily into a moderate-sized ornamental container and look exceedingly ornamental on a coffee table or end table, when they are in bloom. Like the larger cymbidiums, the miniatures have a very long flowering period. A blooming spike, left on the plant, will stay attractive from one to three months while a cut spike in the house will last close to a month.

We are following the cultural instructions which Otto gave us with our first plant. The original plant has been divided and both divisions are showing big, fat, flowering spikes. In addition we have added about a dozen more, seems you can't have too many of these delightful plants.

Ideal conditions call for placing the plants in a warm place from October through the winter. Otto places his in a plastic covered lean-to at the back of his garden. We have no such place so we placed our pots around some low growth, close to the house where the wind cannot reach them. Others went on the shelves of a two-sided plant shelter that has a plastic roof.

Fertilize the plants lightly and frequently during the growing season with a liquid-type fertilizer or a fertilizer made into a liquid before applying.

Dividing and repotting seems to worry home gardeners more than anything else. First, let us say, do not divide any cymbidium until it gets too big to be useful, just move the plant on into a larger pot, and give it fresh soil. We divide our plants when the pots get so large we have to ask someone to help us carry them.

The first step is to have a cymbidium potting mix ready to use. All the cymbidium growers we know use a commercial cymbidium potting mix available at most garden supply stores. This comes in a plastic bag and can be moistened by simply pouring water into the bag several hours, or overnight, before you plan to use it. Next pry the plant out of the pot, and if you are not going to 'pot it on', pull the plants apart (do not cut them apart), spray the wound with tree paint, remove any damaged roots by cutting above the damage and repot. Firm the soil well about the roots and water with a weak fertilizer solution. Don't make the divisions too small. By leaving two or three bulbs to a division the plant will quite likely bloom next year at its regular blooming time.

A Student Design Contest

The California Spring Garden Show of Oakland is sponsoring a Home and Landscape Design competition for future architects and landscapers enrolled in Northern California's senior high schools and junior colleges. Entries opened Monday, February 20. More than $1750 is being offered in the premium lists.

Outstanding scale models of homes and landscape installations are sought by the nationally famed Oakland Show, scheduled at the Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum Arena and Exhibit Hall, May 5 through May 14. Theme of this thirty-fifth edition of the show is "Floralia."

Mrs. Joseph Medeiros, president of the First District Agricultural Association, which produces and sponsors the annual show, noted that the student contest is the only one of its type in California. Since its inception in 1961, the number of entries has more than doubled and last year, Mrs. Medeiros said, 192 students competed for the cash awards.

Eligible for the awards are Northern California students in schools located in counties lying north of the northerly boundaries of Mono and Inyo Counties. Prizes are offered in both junior college and high school levels and for both models and designs.

Copies of competition rules in the 1967 premium schedules are available from Everett Nevin, show manager, California Spring Garden Show, 920 Fallon Street, Oakland. Loy Chamberlain of Oakland, member of the A.I.A. streamlined the 1967 regulations.

The models and designs will occupy a premium space in the Coliseum Exhibit Hall at the 1967 California Spring Garden Show from Premiere Night, May 5, through Sunday, May 14.

Beauty Funds Are Reduced

An over-all decrease in the availability of federal funds for beautification grants throughout the country "hit home" Thursday night.

Pacifica's councilmen learned their application for beautification funds had been cut in half — "the bad news," noted City Manager Bill Masonheimer.

Class Project Burned

There were some disappointed carpentry class students at South San Francisco's El Camino High School last Thursday.

An unfinished portion of a class project — a two-car garage and storage room that has taken better than a year to build — was damaged by fire early Wednesday.

South San Francisco assistant fire chief Al Brauns estimated damage at between $800 and $1,000 in the 2:24 a.m. blaze.

Cause has not yet been determined.

The structure is L-shaped, with the short end of the "L" the unfinished portion which is the section that was damaged by the fire. Just the framing and the roof of the burned portion was completed.

Braun said he thought the entire storage section would have to be rebuilt.

Senior Citizen Complex Plan Is Undecided

"Everybody seems to know more about this senior citizen complex than the city planner does," South San Francisco city planner Dan Pass said last week.

He was referring to a multi-million-dollar senior citizens (mature adults over 65) being planned "for somewhere in the city," Frank Mammini disclosed shortly after a meeting with federal officials on February 15.

Mammini said the representatives of the Housing and Urban Developement department (HUD) looked at three sites suitable for the three-acre $2-million complex during a tour of South San Francisco.

Whether the complex will be high-rise or flat still hasn't been decided upon by the proponents of the complex, Mammini, a local construction contractor and member of the city's Planning Commission said.

"First we have to find out who will run the project, and then the group must organize and start setting up preliminary work projects," Mammini said.

First, the prime movers behind the senior citizens' complex must show the federal government enough people in the immediate area are interested, or have need, for such a structure.

"I hope to have the feasibility story prepared within six months," Mammini said.

Unlike several similar projects which have been voted down in the Bay Area during recent years, the South San Francisco complex does not require a public bond issue, because of the nonprofit sponsorship and low interest federal aid funding.

Razor Stroke Kills Barber

A Daly City barber, evidently despondent over an impending divorce, committed suicide in a Redwood City motel during the weekend by slashing his arm with a razor blade and bleeding to death police report.

Robert Eugene Miller, 48, who formerly resided at 111 Garden Lane, Daly City, was found dead on a blood soaked bed in the Town House Motel, 1090 El Camino Real, at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

A. W. Stanger, manager of the motel, told police that Miller, who had an artificial leg as the result of a World War II wound, had been registered at the motel since February 10. Miller was last seen alive Friday afternoon, police reported.

Coroner's Investigator Robert Cawley said that Miller had cut the inner part of his right arm with a razor blade. Cawley estimated that Miller had been dead at least six hours when his body was found. A pathologist estimated that it probably took four hours for Miller to die after cutting the vein in his arm.

Police said that Miller had been served with divorce papers by his estranged wife, Marian, two days before his death. The deceased had been on probation for a drunk driving conviction.

The "hilarious" production of "Bumbles" will be ready in two weeks, reports TN drama instructor David Campbell. The story of Bumbles, the faithful clown, played by Terry Bedford, this children's play is being produced by the advanced drama class. Wearing Barbara Zantis' "splendiforous" costumes the "Bumbles" cast will tour various local elementary schools. Campbell is interested in presenting the play to children's groups and can be contacted at Terra Nova High School.

SCHEDULED for a one-night stand, March 10, TN's Fine Arts Festival is in its preparational stages. Sponsored by the Fine Arts Department (art, music, drama), the Festival will feature a display of art works by TN students which will be on sale. The TN band, chorus, and various drama students will perform in a show featuring music, singing, pantomimes, monologues, and three one-act plays.

Only 250 tickets will be sold, so it is advisable to purchase tickets early from TN fine arts students. Proceeds will provide for fine arts scholarships.

JUNIORS will receive their class rings today and tomorrow. This will add to the expense-load of many juniors also attending the junior prom this Friday night at TN.

Fortunately, the expense will be forgotten as they "Catch a Falling Star," this year's prom theme.

MRS. IOLA McKEOWN, Olympia-Rivera School's principal in Daly City, hands Mrs. Monte Hill the Honorary Life Membership award from the Olympia-Rivera Parent-Teachers' Association. Mrs. Hill, an active church schoolteacher and a member of the P-TA board for five years, is her unit's newsette editor. She also has been active in Girl Scout activities. (Post Photo)

P-TA at San Andreas Selects Mrs. Millard

The San Andreas P-TA has presented its first honorary life membership to Mrs. Rodney Millard.

Mrs. Millard was born, raised and educated in Medford, Ore., coming to San Francisco in 1943.

For 10 years, she worked for the Southern Pacific Railroad. When Mrs. Millard came to San Francisco she joined the Apostolic Church of San Francisco and served as a Sunday school teacher.

She is musical director for the primary and intermediate Sunday school classes and as substitute teacher.

At Easter and Christmas she directs the children's programs. She sings, plays the violin and piano.

For the past two years Mrs. Millard has been a member of the Boosters' club for the Boys Club, and helped to raise money for the Pacifica Boys' Club.

In P-TA, Mrs. Millard has been hospitality chairman, program chairman and treasurer.

Mrs. Millard and her family will leave soon for North Carolina.

'Esperanto' Talk For the Y-Wives

The North San Mateo County Unit of the YWCA-Wives have invited Mrs. William Schulze, world traveler and chairman of the "National Committee for Esperanto in the Elementary Schools," to present at 10 a.m. tomorrow a program entitled "Esperanto, the Language of Today."

The meeting will be at the Westlake Baptist Church, Southgate and Elmwood, Daly City.

ONCE AGAIN my recipe comes from a happy source, a recent luncheon.

My hostess this time was Mrs. Rena Noero, who lives at 23 Westdale Ave., Daly City. This different and delicious tuna salad was a great success with all the guests and it especially appealed to me. I feel you good cooks will find it equally enjoyable.

APPLE TUNA TOSS

1 med. head lettuce, torn in bite size spieces (4 cups)
2 cups sliced apple
1 can mandarin orange slices, 11-oz. size
½ cup mayonnaise
2 teaspoons soy sauce
1 teaspoon lemon juice

In a large salad bowl combine the four cups of broken lettuce, two cups apple, one can mandarin orange slices, one-third cup walnuts, toss together. Combine the one-half cup mayonnaise, two teaspoons soy sauce and one teaspoon lemon juice.

To serve add dressing to salad, toss gently. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

THIS NEXT recipe also uses tuna and makes a large casserole that blends rice, peas, celery soup and seasonings and tops all with a flaky crust. Mrs. Mary Juster who lives at 66 Forest Lake Ave., in Daly City, gave me this recipe years ago and it has been a favorite of ours.

DEEP-DISH TUNA PIE

2 cans tuna, chunk style
2 cups cooked rice
3 cups cooked peas
2 cans cream of celery soup
½ cup milk
¼ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Pastry, plain or flavored with cheese

Combine the two cans of tuna, which has been drained and broken up, with the two cups of cooked rice, three cups of cooked peas, two cans of cream of celery soup, one-half cup milk, one-fourth cup chopped onion and teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Pour into a two-quart casserole. Toll our pastry and shape to fit the top of the casserole; set on top; flute edge.

Bake in hot oven (425-degrees) about 25 minutes. Makes six to eight servings.

NOW, for the pastry to cover this delish dish. This pie crust recipe is the greatest. I've been making pies for more years than I care to remember and have now discarded all my other pie crust recipes in favor of this one.

PERFECTLY EASY-PIE-CRUST

1½ cups of sifted flour
½ cup shortening
1 teaspoon salt
2 to 3 tablespoons water

Sift the one and a half cups of flour and one teaspoon of salt into bowl. Cut in the one-half cup of shortening. Sprinkle with two to three tablespoons cold water. (This really means to sprinkle, as you add the water take a fork and toss the the flour around so you won't get all the water in one place.) Place on wax paper. Knead three times. Press into a ball. Let stand at room temperature for 15 to 20 minutes. Roll out between wax paper.

AH ME, pride cometh before the fall. For weeks we've been congratulating ourselves that the column has been without error. But last week it happened. In the nut bread, the correct amount of salt is one teaspoon.

Evening Of Recollection Set Monday

An Evening of Recollection will be held Monday at Our Lady of Mercy Church in Westlake.

The Rev. Joseph O'Brien, S.J. will be the moderator. Father O'Brien was Father Provincial of the Jesuit Order and a representative in Rome of the Jesuit Fathers. Father O'Brien is now at the El Retiro Retreat House in Los Altos.

Mrs. Edward Glischinski will be the chairman for the evening, according to Mrs. James Diggins, spiritual director for the Westlake Catholic Women.

The evening will begin at 7 p.m. with Mass being offered at 8 p.m. and Benediction will bring the Evening of Recollection to a close at 9:30 p.m.

TRIPLE-DUTY RITCHARD

STRATFORD — Cyril Ritchard is planning triple duty for next summer's production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" at the American Shakespeare Festival.

The noted actor-director will stage the drama and also appear as both Oberon and Bottom. The engagement is Ritchard's first here.

Right Appetizers Can Set a Mood

Getting a meal off to a good start depends very much on your choice of appetizer and how you serve it. The right appetizer can even set a style and mood for you.

Family or friends gathering for a big dinner? Consider the charming interlude that is the "before-dinner cocktail" served in the living room. Sparkling glassware, tasty canapes on an attractive tray — thoughtful touches that turn your meal into a delightful occasion.

An appetizer that really belongs to such a moment is the Mulled Glass, a rosy drink made with a lively blend of eight vegetable juices . . . and spices. Garnished with lemon slices, the servings are as appealing to the eye as to the taste.

MULLED GLASS

1 can (1 pt. 8 fl. oz.) "V-8" juice
2 teaspoons brown sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Generous dash ground ginger
Generous dash ground cloves
Lemon slices

Combine all ingredients except lemon slices; chill 4 hours. Serve in chilled glasses. Float lemon slice on juice. Makes six servings.

No matter what kind of dinner you serve, there are appetizer choices to suit your theme. Even the Oreiental menu can have a right looking and right tasting beverage opener. The next time you prepare your family's favorite sukiyaki or chow mein, try a flavorful blend of vegetable juice and toasted sesame seeds garnished with pineapple. Makes six servings.

FAR EAST 'FRESHER

1 can (1 pt. 8 fl. oz.) blended juices
1 teaspoon toasted sesame seeds
Pineapple chunks

Combine juices with sesame seeds; chill 4 hours, Serve in chilled glasses; garnish with pineapple. Makes 6 servings.

Three-Fruit Cocktail Is Refreshing

Good fruit cup with which to start the meal because the combination is so refreshing.

Three Fruit Cocktail
Roast Beef Yorkshire Pudding
Asparagus Salad Bowl
Floating Island Beverage

THREE-FRUIT COCKTAIL

2 medium grapefruit
1½ cups halved seeded red grapes (Emperor if available)
½ cup pineapple tidbits and ½ to ¾ cup syrup from the can of pineapple

Pare grapefruit so no white membrane remains; cut sections away, from dividing membranes. Mix grapefruit sections with grapes, pineapple tidbits and pineapple syrup. Chill. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

5 Teaspoons Will Do Floor

Coffeebreak time. Washing the floor uses 84 extra energy calories an hour. Sugar supplies energy fast, but even sugar, the most highly concentrated source of food energy known, contributes only 18 calories a teaspoon. It would take almost five teaspoons of sugar in tea or coffee to break even.

Strawberries Top Creamy Pudding

What do you expect of a family dessert? Probably, that it be easy to make, appealing in flavor, and good for everyone from baby to grandma!

Farina, molded with gelatin and vanilla pudding mix, plus egg and whipped cream is a sophisticated creamy custard. Its gentle flavor is set off with sliced strawberries, but it could as well be topped with hot fudge or thick caramel sauce. If you have farina for breakfast, by all means, prepare an extra batch for this nourishing dessert. Breakfast cereals, like farina, are nutritional bargains and excellent for recipe ingredient use.

Strawberry Farina Mold

1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 package (3¼ ounce) vanilla pudding and pie filling mix (not instant)
2 cups milk
⅓ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup uncooked farina, cooked as directed on package
1 tablespoon vanilla
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1 envelope (2 ounce) whipped dessert topping mix
3 cups sweetened, sliced fresh strawberries or 2 packages (10 ounce) frozen strawberries, defrosted

Soften gelatin in water. Combine pudding mix and 1½ cups milk; cook as directed on package label. Add softened gelatin, sugar, and salt; stir until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in cooked farina, vanilla, and orange rind. Cool until very thick, stirring frequently. Combine topping mix and remaining ½ cup cold milk; whip as directed on package label. Fold whipped topping into cereal mixture. Pour into 6-cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold; serve with fresh or defrosted frozen strawberries. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

TAMALE PIE — An interesting combination of cornmeal, stewed tomatoes, whole-kernel corn, ground beef and ripe olives. Chili powder helps to give the casserole spicy seasoning.

Tamale Pie Is Tasty Casserole

Families who enjoy robust and flavorful casseroles are sure to welcome Tamale Pie.

This pie is an interesting combination of ground beef, whole-kernel corn, tomatoes, cornmeal and ripe olives. Seasonings go in, of course, and grated cheese makes the topping.

We've tried lots of Tamale Pies in our day — but this one is a little different. Usually the cornmeal is cooked separately and used as a base. But not here. Instead the cornmeal is cooked along with the other ingredients before it is turned into the casserole. This makes an interesting texture change — and it also makes one less pot to wash!

TAMALE PIE WITH RIPE OLIVES

- 1 tablespoon salad oil
- 1 pound ground lean beef
- 1 small onion, finely chopped or ¼ cup instant minced onion
- 1 can (1-pound 1-ounce) whole kernel corn
- 1 can (1-pound) stewed tomatoes
- ½ cup enriched yellow cornmeal
- 1¾ teaspoons salt
- 2 teaspoons chili powder
- 1 teaspoon Worchestershire sauce
- 1 cup canned drained pitted ripe olives
- Grated cheddar cheese

In a 10-inch skillet, heat the oil; add beef and over moderate heat, crumbling fine with the flat tines of a fork, cook meat until it loses its red color. Add onion, undrained corn and the undrained stewed tomatoes. Slowly stir in the cornmeal, then salt, chili powder and Worcestershire sauce. Over low heat, cook and stir for 10 minutes. Stir in ripe olives. Turn into a 1½-quart round ovenproof glass casserole (7½ by 2½ inches); sprinkle with cheese. Bake in moderate (350 deg.) oven until bubbly hot and well browned — about 45 minutes. Makes 6 servings. If you like you may reserve 6 ripe olives and use them as a garnish.

Note: Tamale Pie may be made ahead and refrigerated before baking. In this case allow to stand at room temperature for an hour before baking; increase baking time by 15 to 30 minutes. To make sure Tamale Pie is hot through, test center by using a fork to dip out a small portion.

Frankfurters Will Blend Novel Foods

Have you ever noticed how unlike food combinations sometimes make the most surprising casseroles? A case in point is this one called Frankfurter Surprise.

It's not unusual to find frankfurters teamed with macaroni, but when shell-type macaroni is used that's interesting. Then cottage cheese and sour cream with seasonings are used as a binder-sauce.

Leave out the versatile hot dog and it would not have much appeal. Cut in one-inch pieces, however, the frankfurter adds flavor, high quality protein and color to the dish, points out a meat authority.

Franfurter Surprise

- 1 pound farankfurters
- 1 package (8 ounces) shell macaroni
- 1 cup cottage cheese
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1 teaspoon dehydrated onion
- ¼ teaspoon garlic powder
- 2 teaspoons parsley flakes

Cook macaroni according to directions on package. Cut frankfurters into 1-inch pieces. Combine macaroni, cottage cheese, sour cream, onion, garlic powder and parsley flakes. Add frankfurters. Place in a 2-quart casserole. Bake, undercover, in a moderate (350 degree) 30 minutes. Six servings.

Try Winter Wonder Salad Year 'Round

As fresh produce is so readily available, good foods that used to be strictly summer fare are now easily obtainable all year. Salads are good examples of "summer fare" that are appreciated all year long.

Here is a wonderful salad recipe. The tangy sweet-and-sour flavor of the dressing is spiked with crumbles of peppy American blue cheese tossed with the vegetables. Zesty onion and bacon crisps are speckled throughout the greens. Colorful grated radishes glorify the top.

WINTER WONDER
(Serves 6)

- ¼ pound bacon
- ¼ cup bacon drippings
- 3 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1½ tablespoons sugar
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 head lettuce
- ½ cup chopped green onions
- ½ cup crumbled American blue cheese
- ¼ cup grated radish

Cook bacon until crisp. Drain and crumble. Set aside. In hot drippings, mix flour to form smooth paste. Stir in vinegar and seasonings.

Tear lettuce into bite-size pieces. Toss together with bacon, onions and American blue cheese. Pour dressing over all and toss lightly to coat lettuce. Garnish with shredded radishes. Serve immediately.

Whole Wheat Hot Cross Bun Variation

A variation on that old favorite — hot cross buns.

Tomato Soup Crackers
Egg Salad with Vegetables
Wholewheat Hot Cross Buns

WHOLEWHEAT HOT CROSS BUNS

- ½ cup milk, scalded
- ¼ cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 3 tablespoons dark molasses
- 1-3 cups warm water
- 2 packages active dry yeast
- ½ cup currants
- ¼ cup chopped citron
- 2½ cups stone ground whole wheat flour, unsifted
- 3¼ cups (about) unsifted regular flour

Off heat, stir the sugar, salt, butter and molasses into the scalded milk; cool to lukewarm. In a large warm bowl, dissolve the yeast in warm water; add lukewarm milk mixture, currants, citron and wholewheat flour; stir well to blend. Work in enough additional regular flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured surface and knead until smooth and elastic — 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl; turn to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm draft-free place until double—about 1 hour. Punch down dough; turn out as before. Divide into 18 equal pieces; form into smooth balls. Place in two greased 8-inch square pans. Cover; let rise as previously until doubled — about 45 minutes. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Turn out on wire rack to cool. Use confectioners' sugar frosting to mark crosses on top of buns. Makes 18.

Additions to YWCA Fashion Show Model List

Additions have been made to the model list for the San Mateo YWCA "New for You" fashion luncheon on March 7, at noon, in the Friar room of the Serra Bowl.

The additional models are "Y" members Mrs. Frank Beller, Mrs. Marshall Bloss, Mrs. Gerald Williams and Mrs. Robert Washford. Mrs. Ned Vitali will serve as model assistant, and Mrs. Michael Kerekes will be an additional hostess.

Sports, daytime and after-five clothes will be modeled with an eye to spring and what is "New for You.," all from the Fashion of Westlake; commentated by Genevieve Castle.

Door prizes have been made available to the YWCA by Hrtz Rent A Car, Beaunty Counselors, Alec Shopping Center and the Friar room.

Tickets and reservations are available now at the "Y" office, 375 South Mayfair, Daly City, or Mrs. Edward Raymond, 2636 Tyrone Court, South San Francisco, and Mrs. Raymond Peters, 523 Midway, Colma.

Entertainment during lunch will be by soloist Mrs. Robert Elliott, and the Jerry Matlock Hawaiian dance group, including Angel Molina, Millie Hagman, Kathy Meade, Vicki Apt and Debbie Voyle.

Expert child care for preschool children will be offered, courtesy of the nursery at the Serra Bowl.

Family Life

P-TA Unit Sets Play In Bruno

"Broken Circle," a live theatrical production of the Plays for Living Committee, will be presented at the Pacific Heights School March 9 at 8 p.m., under the sponsorship of the Pacific Heights P-TA.

The play, written, dircted and acted by professionals, portrays a marriage and a family unit threatened by a vicious circle of quarreling, criticism and distrust which ultimately jeopardizes the normal development of the children in the family.

It is the story, too, of how a family casework counselor helps the couple to see and then resolve their difficulties and in the end, to break the vicious circle.

A discussion leader will be present to help the audience recognize the asic emotions and personality conflicts interacting in the play.

With the presentation of "Broken Circle," the Pacific Heights P-TA initiates a three-part series on family life.

Future programs exploring problems of life in a changing society will be: "The Changing Role of Women" on April 13 and "The Vanishing American Father" featuring Dr. David Freeman of San Francisco State College on May 11.

Pacific Heights School is located at Pacific Heights Boulevard and Colby Way in San Bruno.

Cub Leaders' Training To Start Monday

Marvin Schneider, chairman of the Portola District Boy Scouts of America, announced that a Cub Leaders' Training Course will be offered starting March 6 at the Sharp Park School.

Bernie Lake and Chuck Krake, veteran scouters, will teach the course, designed to help the new and older cubmasters, assistants, committeemen and den mothers.

Some of the points to be covered are the den meeting, the pack meeting, den chiefs, dist rict committee and organization.

Lake stated that in the past the course, which runs four weeks, has been well attended and much interest is shown.

Geo. Washington P-TA to Meet

The next meeting of the George Washington P-TA will be at 8 p.m. today in the school's multi-use room.

Art Tufts will preside.

Principal Mr. Martindale will explain about tests will be explained and samples will be shown.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Sorority Meeting

Louanne Heath

Mrs. Madeline Vincent, the Bay-Peninsula Regional Council president of Epsilon Sigma Alpha International Sorority, and Mrs. Rita Palfrey, the council's corresponding secretary, will pay an official visit to Daly City's Beta Sigma chapter of the sorority this evening, according to Mrs. Esther Hall, chapter publicity chairman.

Members of the local unit will great the area's executive officers in the Daly City home of Mrs. Walter Misterman. Co-hosting the occassion, with Mrs. Misterman, will be Mrs. Joyce Thompson of San Anselmo.

The regular business portion of the program will be followed by an education program, "Take Time to Love," being presented by Mrs. Donald Yates of San Mateo and Mrs. Cletus Hall of Pacifica.

Fifty fourth, fifth and sixth graders from Daniel Webster School in Daly City recently accepted the enthusiastic applause of parents and teachers attending the P-TA Founders' Day program, and then switched the spotlight to their accompanist, Mrs. Pearl Bloom, and presented her with a dozen red roses in appreciation for her hours of work preparing for the program.

The youngsters, under the direction of Fred Heron, had sung Founders' Day on Broadway, a collection of songs and music which had taken three months of work and co-operation to prepare. Mrs. Bloom, who worked to present a similar program last year had volunteered her time to work with Heron and the students on the 1967 program.

A TRIP to visit San Quentin Prison has been organized by the members of the San Bruno Women's City Club, according to word from Mrs. Ann Buzzell, publicity chairman for the Club.

Members of the group will sojourn across the Golden Gate on March 18 to tour the facility, dine and enjoy a program of entertainment presented by inmates. Proceeds from the event will go to the San Quentin Inmates Recreation Fund. Persons interested in making the trip are urged to call Mrs. Ann Liberti, 588-1780, for information.

Though guests on the prison tour have no personal contact with prisoners and are perfectly safe, the members of the San Bruno Women's City Club, aren't taking any chances! This month's regular meeting, scheduled for tomorrow evening, will be highlighted by the appearance of a judo and karate expert who will offer tips on the art of self-defense.

Mrs. Martin Krenn, Jr., has been named the chairman of the annual Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mother Club fashion show, according to Mrs. Robert Zaro, publicity chairman.

The show, entitled "Oriental Fantasy," will be held on April 22 in the Hilton Inn at the International Airport. A Japanese atmosphere will prevail as fashions from Celestine's House of Styles are presented.

Assiting Mrs. Krenn with the arrangements are Mrs. John Healy, donations and prizes; Mrs. James Sans and Mrs. Kenneth Martin, investments; Mrs. Ruben Berrera, decorations, Mrs. Robert Battaglis, models, Mrs. Paul Galliano, hostesses, Mrs. Zaro, publicity, and Mrs. Theodore Reed and Mrs. Edward Denning, reservations.

Tickets are on sale for $5 per person and anyone wishing to make reservations is asked to call Mrs. Reed.

The Holy Angeles Women's Guild will hold a communion breakfast following the 8 a.m. mass on March 5, according to Mrs. Chris Sigigie, the guild's publicity chairman.

Mrs. Josie Stokes, the chairman and Mrs. Sue Sheerin, the co-chairman, have selected the Southern in South San Francisco for the annual affair, the proceeds from which will go into the guild's general fund.

The guild is preparing for the big spring fashion extravaganza-luncheon on April 1 in the Villa. Tickets will go on sale this Saturday and again on March 11 in the parish hall from noon until 4 p.m. Mrs. Betty Camous and her committee will be manning the sale booth.

Mrs. Barbara McCarthy, chairman of Turn About, and her able assistant and Co-chairman Mrs. Marion Fellman, have announced that persons donating to the general fund will be eligible to receive the $150, $50 or the $25 merchandise order from Livingstons, which will be presented during the show.

Dennis Desjardins, the director of the Daly City Community Chorus, was the surprise tenor soloist on Thursday evening when the chorus performed for the Founders' Day Program at Vista Grande School.

Chorus secretary, and one of the scheduled soloists, Mrs. Adela Zamora, was not able to appear because she has been confined with a severe case of pneumonia.

Upcoming important date for the chorus in the annual St. Patrick's Day pot-luck dinner set for March 16 in the Erstmoor Club House. Samuel Silverman and his social committee members are hard at work on the affair which will feature entertainment as well as sustenance. The chorus will hold its regular weekly rehearsal following the dinner and an invitation is out to anyone interested in joining the musical aggregation to sit in on the practice session beginning at 8 p.m. every Thursday evening.

Mrs. Donna Sapton, 20 years a member of Beta Sigma Phi sorority was named Valentine Queen at the recent dinner-dance sponsored by the Beta Sigma Phi City Council of Pacifica in the Princeton Inn, in Princeton.

Mrs. Chapton, a charter member of Xi Lambda Phi chapter, was formerly Valentine Queen of her chapter in Seattle, Wash., and has twice been Girl of the Year since she became a sister.

The crowning, which made her elegible for the International Queen title, was done by Mrs. Dorothy Blazquez, president of the council. Runners up in the contest were Mrs. Joyce McNulty of Tau Gamma Chapter and Mrs. Pat Dal Poggetto of Phi Epsilon Kappa chapter.

KEN STROM, NEW president of the Pacifica Boys' Club, looks at the site of proposed club center on map with outgoing president Rolaand Terry (right). The Challenge Development Co. donated site, and for this the firm received a special award from the Boys' Club at recent annual meeting. Bids for project will be called soon. Terry received "Golden Boy" award for outstanding service at same meeting, from E. L. McKenzie, regional director of Boys' Club of America. Al Rosenberg received an outstanding service award. New office for the Club is Suite 214, Eureka Square. It formerly was located at Carol's Business Service, which donated space for six months.

Glider School Is Considered On Coastside

Pacifica may have a glider school if a forthcoming survey proves the area suitabie for such an activity.

Millard B. Duffy gained a City Council "invitation" to proceed with his "study" of the area.

He also received City Manager Bill Masonheimer's personal endorsement.

The city manager said the activity would offer no hazards to either the pilot Duffy or residents.

In fact, if the survey shows establishment of the glider school in Pacifica to be feasible, Masonheimer said he'd take advantage of it.

Councilwoman Grace McCarthy said Duffy should be encouraged.

Duffy hopes to be able to take advantage of the area's winds, mountain rises and cliffs.

He said he currently operates such a school in Calistoga, where there have been no objections. There, he flies over homes and highways without causing trouble.

Gliding, Duffy said, is generally regarded safe by aeronautics control officials.

A special winch would be used for launching instead of planes, Duffy said.

"We're not even sure this is a desirable area," he added.

Lutheran Rites At Westlake

Westlake Lutheran worship services are scheduled for 11 a.m. on Sunday.

The fourth of a series of sermons on "Their Finest Hours" will be presented by interim pastor, Rev. E. Beilstein.

Street-Share Plan Studied on Coast

One of the major items to be probed by Bill Masonheimer, Pacifica's new city manager, and city staff members, will be methods of financing street repair.

Councilmen want the city manager to deliver a proposal in which the city and property owners might share in street repair, perhaps improvement, costs.

"It is possible for the city to co-operate in a number of ways," Masonheimer said. A plan hopefully could be devised to "encourage" taxpayers in areas where bad streets exist, to participate.

Katherine Bouly's letter to the council, asking for maintenance of San Pedro Point roads on behalf of the Pedro Valley Improvement Association, brought about the discussion.

Noting the base of the road was constructed in the early 1900's, she said San Pedro Road has not been properly maintained since the city was incorporated.

She said the group asked only for the "same service" that had been experienced when the Pedro system was maintained by the county prior to incorporation.

The road is not in the city's select system, City Public Works Supt. Ken Thompson said, because it will not meet state standards without reconstruction.

Gas tax moneys are used for such select streets, but plans and specifications must be approved by the state.

Thompson said the city, if it had sufficient funds, could maintain the street.

He explained that maintenance is merely keeping the streets from deteriorating beyond their original condition.

Improvement is another question. Maintenance is not improvement, he said.

Rodeo Is Supported In Pacifica

Plans for a June rodeo, sponsored by the Pacifica JayCees, received the encouragement of City Council members Thursday.

A letter from the organization told of "much enthusiasm" for the event from the city's chamber of commerce.

Dale E. Patterson, chairman of the proposed rodeo, said a "Pacifica Rodeo By the Sea" would receive considerable promotion throughout Northern California prior to staging June 10-11.

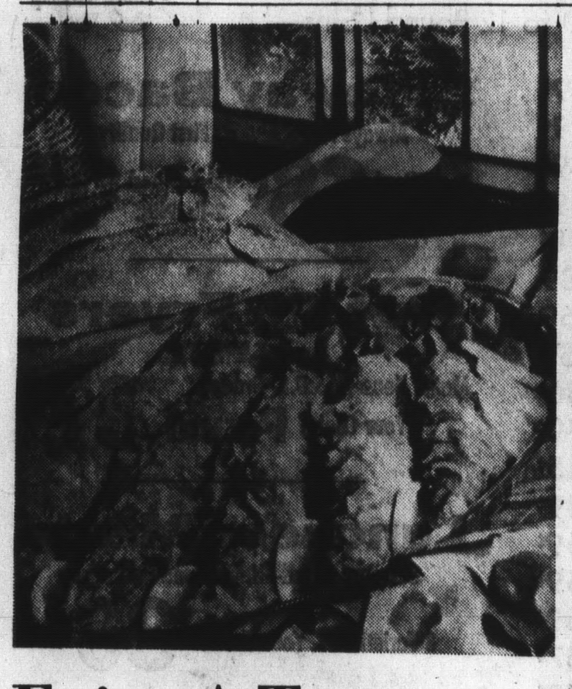
THIS EASILY ACHIEVED Nesselrode Angel Torte is a boon to party-planning hostesses. Rich and flavorsome, it can be made a day ahead ready for last-minute serving. Recipe in our columns today.

Angel Torte Boon To Buy Hostesses

Once upon a time hostesses were busy in the kitchen up until the last possible moment. Today, thanks to bakers and the ease with which one can buy exactly the dairy food desired (without having to go out and milk Bossie), desserts like this fabulous Nesselrode Angel Torte are easily and quickly achieved. As elegant as a formal gown, this dessert can be prepared a day ahead just waiting for that moment of presentation. Recipe makes a whopping 10 to 12 servings, according to neighborhood-taste-testers for the Dairy Council of California who gave it rave notices.

1 large (1-pound 7-ounce) angel food cake
1 cup (2 sticks) butter
2½ cups confectioners' sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
5 egg yolks
1-3 cup brandy or rum
½ cup slivered blanched almonds
1 cup (½ pint) whipping cream or all purpose cream, whipped
Candied cherries for garnish

Cream butter; gradually beat in sugar; add salt and nutmeg. Beat in egg yolks one at a time, blending thoroughly. Stir in brandy or rum and almonds. Chill mixture 45 minutes or until it is firm enough to spread. Slice angel food cake into three layers. Spread nesselrode filling over two layers. Top with remaining layer; cover with plastic wrap or aluminum foil and refrigerate several hours or overnight. Just before serving, frost with whipped cream and decorate with candied cherries cut in halves or bits.



Enjoy A Trout Within Your Home

Coals from last summer's campfire have cooled. Ashes have scattered. Trout caught from cold waters and pan-fried beside the stream only a memory.

Stir the coals back to life with this outdoorsy method of frying trout. Whether you take one of last summer's catch from the freezer or cast into your supermarket fish department, you will hook a trophy meal of bragging-size with trout marinated in a buttermilk-onion soup mixture and then fried.

You won't need an expensive fishing pole or an expensive taste to angle trout onto your menu. Trout are now available to any home campfire in freezer convenience. In addition to being high in nutritive value, they are firm, clean, easy to hand,e, and easy to prepare.

Apply this recipe to trout, and you will get the same mealtime enjoyment from young and old, fisherman and non-fisherman. Only their thoughts will be different—the romantic adventure of a mountain trip that wafts through the memories of a fashion-conscious fly caster; the button-popping proudness of a young pole-and-stringer; the quiet pleasure of a grizzled veteran as he caps another successful fishing trip with a tasty trout dinner; and the shared pleasure by all table guests of a filling, tasty meal.

Not to be outdone by the fishermen in her family, the homemaker can match any angler, creel for creel, by wisely baiting her menus with this finny delicacy.

The latest methods for purchasing, handling, storing, and preparing fish are included in the new, 60-page, complete guide to fish cookery, "Let's Cook Fish." This valuable, full-color reference and recipe book is available by sending 60 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 202.40.

TROPHY TROUT

3 pounds pan-dressed rainbow trout or other pan-dressed fish, fresh or frozen
1 cup buttermilk
1 package (1— or 1⅜ ounces) onion soup mix
1 cup flour
Lemon wedges
Fat for frying

Thaw frozen fish. Clean, wash, and dry fish. Place in a single layer in a shallow baking dish. Combine buttermilk and soup mix. Brush fish inside and out with sauce. Let stand 1 hour. Remove fish from sauce and roll in flour. Fry fish in hot fat at moderate heat for 4 to 5 minutes or until brown. Turn carefully and fry 4 to 5 minutes longer or until brown and fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve with lemon wedges. Makes 6 servings.

Want to Make the Best Indian Pudding?

Dear Cecily: Do you have a really good recipe for Indian Pudding — the kind that doesn't curdle? I've tried half a dozen recipes for this New England dessert, but I've always been disappointed. I grew up in Ohio and didn't eat Indian Pudding until I met up with it at Durgin Park Restaurant in Boston, where it defintely wasn't curdly. I fell for the pudding with a bang and started trying recipes for it; some of these produced a pudding that was too thin and curdled, some a pudding that was too spicy-strong. I'd appreciate your recommendation. — MM.

Dear Miss M: You got the wrong word, baby. Indian Pudding doesn't curdle, it wheys. And the wheying is okay. Fannie Farmer herself, in the first edition of her famous cookbook, warned cooks that this pudding "if baked too rapidly will not whey," implying of course that the wheying was desirable.

However, we get the message. Apparently New England custom differs, because as you say, Durgin Park's pudding isn't wheyed. We happen to have the Indian Pudding recipe that the Durgin Park people distribute — supposedly the recipe they use — but we're sorry to say that in our experience their home rule doesn't turn out a pudding similar to the restaurant version. This may be due to the fact that in cutting the restaurant-size recipe to home-size proportions, necessary adjustments weren't worked out.

Be that as it may, we DO have something good to recommend. The best non-wheying Indian Pudding recipe we have tried to date comes from "What to Cook for Company" by Lenore Sullivan (Iowa State University Press). We're happy that the publisher of the book has given us permission to pass along Lenore Sullivan's directions.

"What to Cook for Company" is one of the finest cookbooks we have ever come upon, and in it there are many well worked out and delicious American favorites, as well as many from other countries. We've known a number of home economists who were in Miss Sullivan's classes at Iowa State University and all have sung her praises.

When we tried her Indian Pudding recipe we used regular packaged enriched yellow cornmeal. We served the pudding shortly after baking, while it was still warm and of soft texture. If you top it with vanilla ice cream, you'll have an American combinatin that can't be beat. — C.B.

LENORE SULLIVAN'S BAKED INDIAN PUDDING

1 quart milk
½ cup yellow cornmeal
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup molasses
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter

Scald 3 cups of the milk; pour over cornmeal to which salt has been added. Add molasses, sugar, cinnamon and butter. Mix thoroughly. Turn into buttered 1½-quart casserole. After pudding has been in oven 20 minutes, pour in the remaining cup of cold milk and stir carefully. Bake in very slow oven (250 degrees) 5 to 6 hours. Serve warm with whipped cream or ice cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Note: To insure proper consistency, stir carefully four or five times during first 1½ hours of baking. The pudding is very thin when put in the oven, but don't be alarmed — it will thicken and caramelize as it bakes.

The long slow baking is the secret of success with this old-fashioned New England pudding. It brings out the smooth caramel flavor and a texture like velvet. Hurried cooking at high temperature fails to develop the delicate flavor and the product will be syrupy and tasteless.

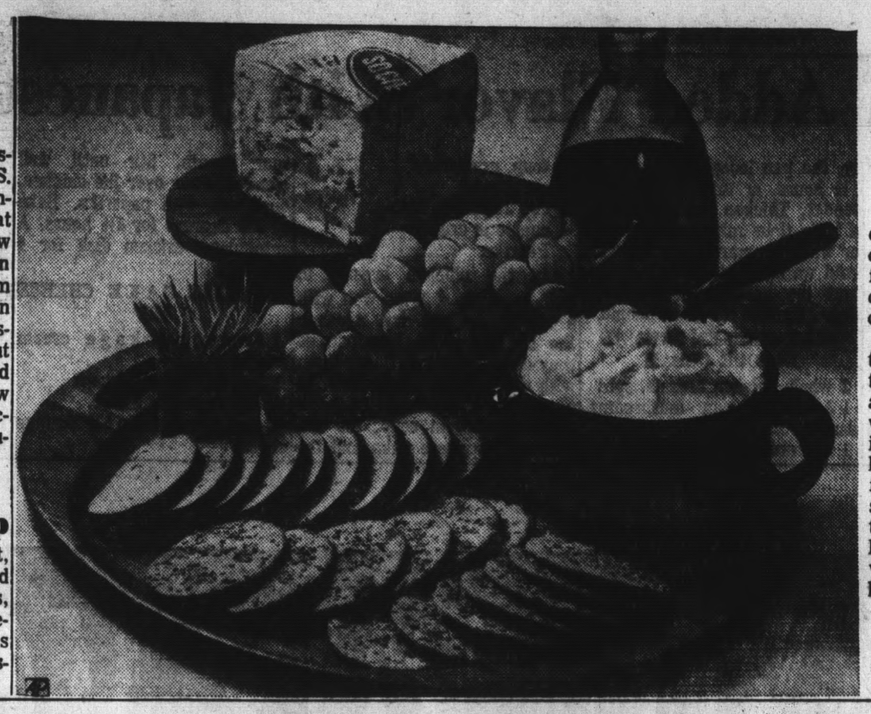
Sugar Industry Began in 1794

The sugar industry was established in the continental U.S. when it was convincingly demonstrated between 1794-1796 that sugar cane from what is now the West Indies could be grown profitably in Louisiana. From then on expansion was rapid. In 1891 sugar beets were successfully grown in Utah and about the same time in California and Nebraska, thus adding a new and cross-country source of sucrose for the growing sugar industry.

Brown Sugar Tip

Brown sugar being moist, clings when used to glaze-cured meats as ham. Holds spices, too. If a spreading paste is preferred, brown sugar mixes smoothly with prepared mustard or tart fruit jelly.



Roquefort Spread Will Be The 'Specialty of the House'

One recipe has become a specialty of our house. It's a cheese concoction to serve with fresh fruit (seedless grapes or slices of apple or pear), bread (plain or toasted) or crackers.

This spread, made with only three ingredients, may be continually added to so that it is always on hand. At times we've varied the amounts of the three ingredients, but for general use, here's a comparatively mild-flavored combination. Because so many people who have tasted this Roquefort Spread at our house have asked for the recipe, we thought you too might enjoy having it.

EVERLASTING ROQUEFORT SPREAD

4 ounces Roquefort cheese
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, soft
3 tablespoons cognac

While the Roquefort is still cold and firm, turn it into a fine-mesh strainer set over a mixing bowl; with a spoon, press the cheese through. Add the soft cream cheese and thoroughly stir together until combined. Pack into a wide-mouth glass jar (holding 1½ to 2 cups) with a screw-type cover; cover tightly. (If top of jar is likelyto rust, cover cheese with plastic wrap before adjusting cover.) Refrigerate for at least a week to allow flavors to blend and develop. (Makes about 1½ cups.)

After about half of the spread has been used, mix in 2 ounces of sieved Roquefort and a 4-ounce package of soft cream cheese. Refrigerate for at least a week to allow this new mixture to mellow.

After half of this batch has been used, mix in 2 ounces sieved Roquefort, 4 ounces cream cheese and 2 tablespoons cognac. Again refrigerate for at least a week to allow this new mixture to mellow.

This is a soft spread, so it should be served as soon as it is removed from the refrigerator. If when you first open the jar, there's a little liquid at the top just stir it into the cheese mixture.

Canned Hash Cuts Corners On Cooking

Easy as pie is meal preparation when corned beef hash comes to the table as a "pie" with a topping of eggs.

The hash is a convenience food, mixed with another conveniece food, tomato paste, before being placed in a pie pan as a "liner," says a home economist. A nest for the eggs can be made with the back of a tablespoon.

Baking in a moderate oven gives a variation of an old favorite, corned beef hash and eggs, in a different form. Serve as a luncheon or supper dish with fruit salad and rolls.

CORNED BEEF HASH PIE

2 cans (16 ounces each) corned beef hash
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
6 eggs
Salt
Pepper

Combine corned beef hash and tomato paste. Line a 9-inch pie pan with half of the meat mixture, reserving other half to form 6 "dividers." Drop whole egg in each wedge-shaped depression of meat mixture. (Or place all of meat mixture in the 9-inch pie pan, then form 6 depressions for the eggs by using the back of a tablespoon measure.) Sprinkle eggs with salt and pepper. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Six servings.

A Crab Meat Cobbler Will Be Different

If you are looking for some thing a "little bit different" to brighten your Lenten cooking and eating, consider Crab Meat Cobbler.

In this imaginative cobbler dish, crab meat is simmered in a creamy cheese sauce and topped with savory herbed stuffing balls. To make stuffing balls with ease, get a head start with packaged herb-seasoned stuffing. This fine particle stuffing has the perfect blend of herbs and spices already mixed in.

Accompany the entree with buttered green beans, dinner rolls and a butterscotch Bavarian dessert.

CRAB MEAT COBBLER

½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1 cup milk
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
2 (6 oz.) packages frozen crab meat
1½ cups tomatoes, drained
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups herb-seasoned stuffing
4 tablespoons butter, melted
½ cup boiling water

In top of double boiler melt butter. Add green pepper and onion, then cook ten minutes or until tender. Blend in flour, mustard, monosodium glutamate, milk and cheese, stirring constantly until cheese melts and sauce is thick. Stir in crab meat, tomatoes, Worcestershire sauce, and salt. Pour into buttered 2 quart casserole. Combine stuffing, melted butter and water. Form into 6 stuffing balls and place on top of crab meat mixture. Bake in 350 degrees F. oven for 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Let Brunch Star Special Broiled Meat

That lazy Sunday when you get up late or that Saturday when your house guests get up at almost noon is a perfect time to have a brunch. This is the meal that combines the best of breakfast and lunch.

Start the occasion with a frosty citrus juice, melon or fruit-in-season. As the main course, feature three delicious meats in a Breakfast Broil, with coffee cake and beverage accompanying.

Keep the temperature for broiling moderate, advises a meat expert, so these cuts will not shrink. This also keeps the kitchen free of smoke.

BREAKFAST BROIL

4 slices Canadian-style bacon, cut ½-inch thick
4 slices thick sliced bacon
Salt

Set regulator for broiling. Place chops on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so the top surface of lamb chops is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. Broil the lamb chops and bacon 5 to 6 minutes or until browned. Season lamb chop and serve. Four servings.

Springlike Touch To a Winter Pie

Although it is still winter, there's a faint hint of Spring far away. This brings a change in menu thinking to allow for something light and new. Here is a pink pie — festive in itself — which makes one think of party fare. Serve it for afternoon tea; plan to have it for a dinner dessert.

Pink Pie

42 Sunshine HiHo crackers
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon ground mace
⅓ cup melted shortening
1 package strawberry gelatin dessert, 3 ounces
1 cup boiling water
1 cup heavy cream, well whipped
1 cup sliced fresh or frozen strawberries
Few whole fresh strawberries, optional

With rolling pin crush only 30 crackers into very fine crumbs between two pieces waxed paper; there should be about 1¼ cups. Mix well with sugar, mace and melted shortening. Press firmly and evenly over sides and bottom of 9-inch pie plate. Then arrange the 12 remaining whole crackers around the sides to make scalloped edge. Refrigerate.

Dissolve gelatin dessert in boiling water. Cool and chill until the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold into whipped cream, blending well. Chill, stirring occasionally, until almost "set". Fold in sliced berries and pour into crumb crust. (This is easier and quicker if bowl is set in another bowl of ice cubes and water.) Refrigerate until needed. When ready to serve garnish top with sliced berries. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Many Delightful Desserts Are Given Added Flavor With Japanese Sake

Good cooks the world over have been using wine to flavor their food for hundreds of years. They use it right along with salt and pepper because it's a quick seasoning that accents and enriches natural food flavors. Wines and liqueurs always add fun and flair to any dish.

Many homemakers avoid cooking with spirits because they have children, but in fact, families can enjoy wine-cooked dishes because the alcohol disappears rapidly when it reaches the low simmering stage. Only the delicious flavor remains and a subtle new goodness that will win you complements.

In recent months, gourmets and professional cooks have been experimenting with using Japanese Sake in place of the more traditional wines and sherries. This light, mellow, jewel-tone liquid is somewhere between a haut sauturne of very dry vintage and a deep bodied sherry. It goes well in meats and fish entrees; and does wonders in "spicing" up dessert cakes and custards.

A little Sake goes a long way towards making any dish take on new subtle flavor. The Japanese have for centuries been drinking Sake heated to about 110 degrees because they say its aroma and taste is then best.

Cooking with Sake will make even prepared mixes and other current convenience foods take on their own individuality. Here are some recipes that use this superb tasting brew. Learn the joys of cooking with wine — especially in Japanese Sake style.

MAGIC WITH SAKE

OPEN A CAN of single-portion clam chowder; add a small glass jar full of drained clams, and a tablespoon of Sake, and you have a soup to serve any visiting plutocrat.

ADD about ¼-cup of Sake to ANY soup just before serving, and you brighten its flavor and increase your enjoyment of it.

A LITTLE SAKE added to practically any chicken dish makes all the difference between a prosaic dish and a gourmet offering.

SUBSTITUTE ¼-cup of Sake for ¼-cup of the milk called for in your favorite "Baked Custard" recipe, and you add a lively new tang to the finished product.

SAKE AND FRUITS are natural allies. Spark your next fruit serving with a little Sake for extra good taste.

FRESH PEARS IN SAKE

4 or 5 Comice pears
1 cup sugar
½ cup apricot jam
½ cup Japanese Sake
Extra dash of Sake
Chopped Blanched Almonds

Peel, core and slice the pears into a pretty serving dish. Make a syrup of the sugar, apricot jam and Japanese Sake by cooking it over a low heat to a smooth thickness. Then add an extra dash of Sake, and take the syrup from the heat. Pour it over the pears and finish the dish with a generous scattering of chopped white almonds. Serves 4 to 6.

SPICED BANANAS IN JAPANESE SAKE

1 cup Japanese Sake
2 sticks cinnamon
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 dozen whole cloves
½ cup pineapple juice
good dash of nutmeg
6 peeled bananas

In a saucepan, mix the Japanese Sake, cinnamon, brown sugar, cloves, pineapple juice and nutmeg. Bring to a boil, boil slowly until the mixture thickens. Cut the peeled bananas in half, cook for 5 to 10 minutes in the syrup. Serve either at room temperature or cold, with whipped cream flavored with a little almond extract. Serves 6 to 8.

SWEET CHERRIES IN JAPANESE SAKE

1½ pounds dark sweet cherries
2 cups Japanese Sake
1 inch stick cinnamon
⅓ cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
2 tablespoons currant jelly

Wash the cherries in cold water, pit them. Combine, in a good-sized saucepan, the Japanese Sake, cinnamon stick, sugar and grated orange peel. Bring the mixture to a boil, reduce the heat and let it simmer for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Then spoon the cherries into 6 pretty sherbet glasses. Put the cherry liquid back on the stove, simmer for about 20 minutes more. Now add the currant jelly, stir until it melts. Remove the cinnamon stick, pour the syrup over the fruit, refrigerate until very cold. A heavenly dessert for 6.

JAPANESE SAKE FRUITED HAM BASTE

Whole cloves
Dark brown sugar
½ cup pineapple juice
1 cup Japanese Sake
1 canned pineapple slice

Take the ham out of the can, remove as much fat as possible from the surface. Stud the top with whole cloves, stuck into the ham in a diamond design. Pat dark brown sugar thickly over the surface. Combine the pineapple juice and Japanese Sake, pour around the ham and slide it into a 350 degree oven. Bake at that temperature for 30 minutes, basting every 5 minutes or so with the juices in the pan. Take from the oven at the end of half an hour, continue to baste the cooling ham with the thickening juices until the meat is saturated. Garnish with pineapple slice. Serves 8 to 12.

STEAK AND ONIONS SAKE

1 big Bermuda onion, chopped
1 garlic bud, chopped (optional)
Bacon fat
1 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms
1 cup sour cream
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
1 tablespoon Worcestershire Sauce
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup Japanese Sake

Brown the diced steak, the chopped onion and the garlic bud in the heated bacon fat, using just enough fat to get the mixture nicely browned. Add the mushrooms and their liquid, the sour cream and the tomato sauce, the Wordestershire and the salt and pepper. Cook slowly, the pan loosely covered, for 1½ hours, or until the meat is tender. Thicken the gravy with a little flour mixed with water, or with cornstarch blended with cold water. Just before serving, add the half-cup of Japanese Sake. Enough for 4 to 6 people.

SAKE CHICKEN BREASTS IN SOUR CREAM

1 3-ounce can mushrooms, drained
1 can cream-of-mushroom soup, condensed
¼ cup water
¼ cup Japanese Sake
1 cup sour cream
Paprika

Cut the chicken breasts in half, to serve 4. Wipe well with a cut lemon, pat dry. Arrange the breasts in shallow pan so they do not overlap. Cover them with the drained mushrooms. In a saucepan, combine the undiluted mushroom soup, the water, the Japanese Sake and the sour cream. Stir until well blended. Pour over the chicken, dust well with paparika. Bake at 350 degrees for 1½ hours. A sumptuous chicken dish for 4 people.

JAPANESE SAKE CHEESE DIP

1 3-ounce package cream cheese
1 small can deviled ham
¼ cup Japanese Sake
1 cup small-curd cottage cheese
1 or 2 drops Tabasco
Salt to taste
Parsley snips

Blend the cream cheese and ham until smooth. Whip in the Japanese Sake and the cottage cheese, add the Tabasco and salt to taste. Pile into a handsome serving-dip bowl, trim with parsley bits. Serve with crisp crackers which have been slightly warmed in the oven, with potato chips or with coconut chips.

Upside Down, These Goodies Come Out Looking Handsome and Beautiful

Turn these pineapple and pecan goodies upside down and they come out looking more handsome and beautiful than right side up. Here we offer three variations on the theme, each using a different cut of canned pineapple.

Golden pineapple slices nestle in a rich butterscotch syrup to make the topping for this splendid pineapple upside down cake. Accent the handsomely glazed pineapple top with bright maraschino cherries and pecan halves. The cake batter is a light one using some of the canned pineapple syrup for even more good flavor.

An upside down pie has about the best pineapple filling we've ever tasted. It's made with a can of pineapple tidbits — sweetened and thickened — with just a hint of lemon juice to accent its refreshing flavor. For an unusual and interesting glaze, coat the bottom of the pan with butter, brown sugar and pecans before lining with pastry. When friends are invited for coffee and dessert, serve this handsome creation with ice cream.

Miniature pineapple yeast rolls have a crushed pineapple and maraschino cherry filling. Roll them up jelly roll fashion, then slice into thin pinwheels for baking in muffin cups. A pecan glaze in the bottom of each cup makes a rich golden topping when they're turned out.

VICTORIAN PINEAPPLE UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

Turn out this pineapple crowned dessert, warm and temptingly fragrant, on your prettiest serving plate when the ladies come for bridge.

1 (1-pound 4½-ounce) can pineapple slices
1-3 cup melted butter
½ cup brown sugar (packed)
7 maraschino cherries
6 pecan halves
1½ cups sifted cake flour
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1-3 cup soft shortening or butter
1-3 cup milk
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon almond extract
1 egg

Drain pineapple slices, reserving 1-3 cup syrup for batter. Pour melted butter in bottom of round 9-inch cake pan; stir in brown sugar. Arrange 7 pineapple slices over sugar; place a cherry in center of each slice and a pecan half between each one. Cut remaining slices in half and arrange around sides of pan. Resift flour with sugar, baking powder and salt. Add shortening, 1-3 cup reserved pineapple syrup, milk, lemon peel and flavorings. Beat 2 minutes medium speed on mixer, scraping bowl often. Add egg and beat 2 minutes longer. Carefully pour batter over fruit in pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 50 minutes or until cake tests done. Let cake stand in pan about 5 minutes before turning out upside down on serving platter. Leave pan in place a few minutes before removing from cake. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

PINEAPPLE UPSIDE DOWN PIE

1 (1-pound 4½-ounce) can pineapple tidbits
Water
3 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¾ cup brown sugar (packed)
6 tablespoons butter
½ cup pecan halves
Pastry for double 9-inch crust

To syrup drained from pineapple add enough water to measure 1¼ cups. Combine with cornstarch, lemon juice and ¼ cup brown sugar. Cook, stirring, until clear and thickened. Blend in pineapple and 2 tablespoons butter. Cool slightly. Melt remaining 4 tablespoons butter in 9-inch pie pan. Sprinkle with remaining ½ cup brown sugar and 1 tablespoon water. Arrange pecan halves, rounded side down, around bottom and sides of pan. Carefully line pan with pastry. Spoon in pineapple mixture. Cover with pastry; seal and flute edges. Prick top. Place pie on square of foil to catch drippings. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 25 minutes, until richly browned. Turn out on serving plate immediately. Cool. Serve with whipped or ice cream, as desired. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

UPSIDE DOWN PINEAPPLE PECAN ROLLS

1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
2 tablespoons warm water
1-3 cup milk
5 tablespoons soft butter
2 cups sifted flour
3 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
Pineapple Cherry Filling
Pecan Glaze

Dissolve yeast in warm water in small warm bowl. Heat milk and 1 tablespoon butter to scalding; cool to lukewarm. Resift flour with sugar and salt. Add cooled milk mixed with beaten egg and yeast, mixing to stiff dough. Turn out onto floured board and knead lightly, just until smooth. Roll to 8 x 12-inch rectangle and spread with 2 tablespoons butter. Fold from ends in thirds, making 3 layers. Give dough a quarter turn on board, and roll again to 8 x 12-inch rectangle. Spread with remaining butter and fold as before. Wrap in saran or foil and refrigerate overnight. When ready to bake, divide dough in quarters and roll to 8 x 10-inch rectangle. Spread each with ½ cup Pineapple Cherry Filling, and roll up as for jelly roll to make 8-inch rolls. Cut each into 12 thin slices. Place a rounded teaspoonful of pecan glaze in lightly greased 2-inch muffin cups. Place a pineapple pinwheel slice of dough in each muffin cup pressing down into glaze with fingers. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 12 minutes, until nicely browned. Let stand a minute or two, then invert pan to remove rolls. Serve warm. Makes 4 dozen tiny rolls.

PINEAPPLE CHERRY FILLING: Combine 1 (8½-ounce) can crushed pineapple, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2½ teaspoons cornstarch and dash of salt. Cook, stirring constantly over moderate heat until mixture boils and becomes clear and thickened. Remove from heat; stir in ½ teaspoon lemon juice and 2 tablespoons chopped maraschino cherries. Cool before using.

PECAN GLAZE: Blend together ½ cup butter and ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar. Stir in 1 cup chopped pecans.

Seafood, Peas Compliment Chicken, Ham

SEAFOOD PEAS

2 cans (each 10 ounces) frozen oyster stew soup, thawed
4 tablespoons flour (regular or instant blending) blended with ¼ cup cold water
2 cans (each 1 pound, 1 ounce) very small green peas, drained
2 cans (each 7½ ounces) king crab with tendons removed, drained and sliced into fairly big pieces

Remove oysters from soup and cut in half; reserve. To the undiluted soup add the flour mixture; over moderately low heat cook and stir constantly until thickened. Add reserved oysters, peas and crabs; reheat but do not boil. Makes 12 generous servings.

Mr. Ford knows...

As a leader in one of the country's basic industries, Mr. Ford is very conscious of the importance of newspapers as an effective advertising medium. Says he: "Newspapers are a vital communicative force and play an important role in the development of our economy. The immediacy of the newspaper is its greatest strength."

New Cantor Named At B'nai Israel

Congregation B'nai Israel of Colma has announced the appointment of Jeno Friedmann to the post of Cantor.

Helsinki, Finland; Israel; Geneva, Switzerland; Dublin, Ireland; Canada and New Orleans were the travel-folder type stopping-off places where Cantor Friedmann lived and worked before his arrival in the Bay Area.

Hungarian born, Cantor Friedmann is a lyric baritone and the son of the late Rabbi J. Friedmann, an outstanding Talmudist and expert on Jewish literature. Rabbi Friedmann was one of Hungary's most prominent spiritual leaders and oriented his son in the direction of Jewish music.

President of Congregation B'nai Israel, Wolf Schlesinger, announces Cantor Friedmann will participate in all Friday night and Saturday morning services as well as religious holidays and will also assist with the Religious School.

Amateur Theatre Unit Will Play To Youngsters

The Council Amateur Theatre Service has "hit the road" to bring the magic of "make-believe" to children who are blind, deaf, physically or mentally handicapped.

This group of about 52-volunteer women, members of the San Francisco Section, National Council of Jewish Women, have, for the past six years, travelled by car and station wagon to all the schools for handicapped children in the Bay Area to present live theatre in its most appealing form—musical fairy tales.

This is one of the Community Welfare projects of the organization. This season their play is "Rumpelstiltskin" and the children who have seen it thus far have been entranced with its color, rhythm and magic.

There will be two performances of this musical play which will be open to the public. They will be held at Giannini Junior High School, 37th Avenue and Ortega Street, on March 22 and March 23, at 2 p.m. (Doors open at 1:30 p.m.)

Tickets will be seventy-five cents for adults and fifty cents for children under 12, and may be purchased at the door.

All proceeds from these performances will be used to defray costs of presenting this play free of charge to the handicapped children during the year.

One of the main characters in the play will be enacted by Mrs. Harold Wachter, a longtime resident of Westlake; other members of the cast who reside in Westlake are Mrs. Sam Greiff, Mrs. Louis Goodstein, Mrs. George Stevenson; and in the production staff, Mrs. Reuben Gilbert, Mrs. Albert Meister and Mrs. Nathan Cohen.

Study of Luke Series Starts

In a series of four Sunday morning messages from the Book of Luke planned for the month of March at the 11 o'clock services Walter Stram, pastor of the Peninsula Church of Christ, is to speak Sunday morning, on the theme: "Who Is This?" based on the fifth chapter of Luke.

The congregation will be reading the Book of Luke during March.

Peninsula Church of Christ/Christian Church, meets in Olivet Chapel, Hillside Boulevard and "F" Street, Colma. with Bible school at 9:45 a.m. with classes for all ages.

Pastors Are Exchanging Their Pulpits

The Rev. David Ehline, pastor of Holy Cross Lutheran Church on Seville Drive in Pacifica, spoke at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, 533 Hickey Boulevard on February 22 and will again March 8.

The Rev. M. Douglas Swendsaid, pastor of Bethlehem Lutheran Church will speak at Holy Cross on these same two Wednesday evenings.

On the other Wednesday evenings during Lent the two pastors will speak in their own churches.

The social welfare committee will have Mrs. H. T. Hamby, First Christian Church, Belmont, as its head. The Rev. Rufus Cooper, St. James AME Zion Church, will oversee the community concerns committee.

Church's Officers Installed

The Rev. George A. S. Hollywood installed officers and new members of the Altar Guild of St. Martin's Episcopal Church, 777 Southgate, Daly City, at the 10 a.m. service last Sunday.

Mrs. Emile Fanfelle and Mrs. Wesley Rossina are co-chairmen.

New members are Mrs. Stanley Bacon, Mrs. Jack Caldwell, Mrs. Darrell Carpenter and Mrs. Anne Cotton.

The Rev. Hollywood will continue his "Meaning of Persons" series of meetings at 8 p.m. March 1.

They are held in the Fellowship Room in the church undercroft following evening worship at 7:30 p.m.

His subject will be "The Opportunity for Encounter."

Books by Viktor Frankl, Reuel Howe and Paul Tournier constitute outside reading for the group. These works discuss modern theories on interpersonal relationships and increasing selfawareness. Members of other faiths are invited to attend and participate in these conferences.

Episcopal Church Women met at the church on February 28 to hear Mrs. Stanton Langsford, president-elect of the Women's Work for the Diocese speak on women's activies.

Meeting Of Full Gospel Unit Slated

W. C. May of South San Francisco, publicity chairman of Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship International Tri-Counties Chapter, has invited interested persons to the second annual Northern and Central California regional convention at the San Francisco Hilton Hotel, March 2 to 4.

Guest speakers will be Dr. Howard Ervin, former pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, Atlantic Highlands, N. J. presently professor at Oral Roberts University; Wendell Wallace, former pastor of Metropolitan Church of God, Portland, Ore., presently participating in evangelistic crusades throughout the world and Kathryn Kuhlman, known "as one of the greatest channels for love and healing in the world today," according to Dr. Frank Laubach, noted missionary leader.

Tickets for breakfasts, luncheons and Saturday's banquet available, further information contact Frank Cordeiro, 276-3950, or Cecil Cooper, 359-2215.

D.C. Job's Daughters To Visit Church

Job's Daughters of Daly City, Bethel 198, will attend the 9:30 a.m. service this Sunday at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 Eighty-seventh Street, Daly City.

These young ladies will participate in the service and will sing the anthem "Bless This House." The honored queen is Miss Carol West with Karen Miller being the senior princess and Susan Straight the junior princess. Mr. and Mrs. Sherman West are the guarians.

At the 11 o'clock service the Chancel Choir of the church will sing the anthem as directed by Delmar Severy. Jim Whitlow will be playing at the organ for both services.

The pastor, Rev. Herbert Tweedie, will preach at each service.

Infant care is available during both services as well as the two Sunday schools of the church.

COMMENT

Pushing Measures Without Hearing

The Daly City council recently passed a new law aimed at regulating the use and operations of self-service car washes, some two weeks after it was quietly introduced at a regular meeting.

As ordinances go it is considered routine and is, perhaps, one of dozens of similar laws passed during the course of the year which spell out, for the general public, how a business should operate and what penalties will be imposed if the law's provisions are violated.

What concerns us deeply, however, is the fact that many of these laws are literally "pushed" through our city councils without benefit of a public hearing.

In the car wash matter (ordinance 662), city attorney Albert Polonsky said the California Government Code permits such laws to be passed without benefit of public hearings or prior local advertisement. Furthermore, all that is required is for the city to advertise passage of the law in a newspaper of general circulation "published and circulated the city" within 15 days after such passage.

The Government Code likewise allows councils to waive second readings of an introduced ordinance by unanimous vote of the council. This means a council may, at its own discretion, make a motion to introduce and pass into law an ordinance almost in the same breath.

Passage of the car wash law was justified, we are told, to safeguard the general public. However, it appears there is a breach of public faith when lawmakers are given the absolute power to inflict laws upon the voting public without benefit of either a public hearing or advertising those laws which have been introduced and will affect the local citizenry.

All too often we are told this or that can be done "legally," but this certainly does not make it swallow any easier.

If our local lawmakers continue to use certain State guides as a crutch then it is time these aids were either modified or thrown out altogether and the authority placed back in the hands of the people themselves.

Legislator Ralph M. Brown once said: "The people do not yield their sovereignty to the agencies that serve them . . . and in delegating authority do not give their public servants the right to decide what is good for them and what is not good for them. . . ."

Pacifica's Municipal Leaders Looking For a Fair Solution to 'Litter Problem'

By WILL THOMAS
City Editor, the Post

How might a city "protect" a few of its residents who consider "litter" the so-called "throwaway" newspapers and advertising circulars they don't want by controlling distribution under a municipal law?

How might this same city set legislature under the Constitutional guarantee of "Freedom of the Press" that does not allow such general controls of the nation's newspapers?

And how, at the same time, might the city in satisfying the "don't-wants", legislate to assure a bulk of whatever publications are available to them?

Pacifica's city councilmen find themselves in this contrasting predicament this week, still in the dark as to what avenues of solulion even are open to them.

LAST THURSDAY the council reviewed a once rejected "anti-litter ordinance," primarily for discussion. It first was before the Pacifica municipal leadership in 1963.

Hoping to find equitable solutions, councilmen have referred the matter to City Manager Bill Masonheimer, who is supposed to study the various aspects of the problem.

City Attorney Conrad Reisch two weeks ago recalled the proposed law when a few Pacificans sent letters to the council asking for some relief form what they called the "litter" of "unwanted throwaway newspapers."

Councilmen, evidently thinking the once-rejected law might be worthy of at least a review in light of the complaints directed Reisch to "dig up" the paper.

He did last Thursday and picked out two or three portions that he thought the council was "interested in," relating to "newspapers" and "commercial handbills."

From the definitions to the restrictions and paragraphs failed to enthuse either the folks who want to restrict the papers on their lawns and doorstoops to "paid subscriptions," or to those who publish the papers being attacked —or those residents who say they read all of them, free or paid.

UNDER THE OLD proposal, a "newspaper" was defined "as any newspaper of general circulation as defined by general law, any newspaper duly entered with the Post Office Department of the United States in accordance with Federal statute or regulation, and any newspaper filed and recorded with any recording officer as provided by general law; and, in addition thereto, shall mean and include any periodical or current magazine regularly published with not less than four issues per year, and sold to the public."

The definition of "commercial handbill" was longer, but essentially pertained to everything published that was not classed as a "newspaper," unless it was a "non-commercial handbill."

"A non-commercial handbill" seemingly was a catchall to include "any matter of literature not included in the aforesaid definitions of a commercial handbill or newspaper."

The rejected measure had specified that commercial or non-commercial handbills could not be distributed to homeowners who posted their premises with appropriate "No Peddlers," or similar sign, unless the matter was handed personally to an occupant.

HOWEVER, in the case of inhabited homes, if the property were unposted the handbills or circulars could be delivered, provided they were "so placed or deposited as to secure or prevent such handbill from being blown or drifted about such premises or sidewalks, street, or other public places and except that mailboxes (could not be) used when prohibited by Federal postal law or regulations."

Discussion on the "newspaper" definition brought out from involved publication representatives that all but one of the publications delivered to Pacificans, most without subscription, were "legal" newspapers and fell within the requirements of the "newspaper" definition.

It was asserted that the definition was too broad, however.

The only proposal for changing it came from a citizen who thought the definition should include only "paid subscription" publications.

Stuart Strong, of the Pacifica Tribune, said the San Mateo Post, the Daly City Record, and the Tribune were adjudicated newspapers of general circulation.

The Coastside Chronicle and the San Francisco Shopping News were described as not adjudicated.

Strong asserted that the definition was so broadly defined that almost all publications were exempt from the provisions of control that the ordinance had attempted to achieve.

HAROLD SCHLOTTHAUER, general manager of the Amphlett Printing Company which publishes the San Mateo Times, and The Post, confirmed that The Post has been a "legal newspaper" by court decree for 21 years.

Schlotthauer said he saw the key words in the definition class as " . . . and sold to the public."

He pointed out that this phrasing in the ordinance would forbid home delivery of all newspapers in Pacifica, except The San Mateo Times, the San Francisco Chronicle and Examiner and the Pacifica Tribune.

He pointed to the Post's policy of contracting local youngsters to deliver the paper under the supervision of local women.

He explained that the newsboys are trained for their task; are replaced if proven unsatisfactory, and that the Posts are wrapped in wax paper whenever rain appears likely.

SCHLOTTHAUER presented his thinking that not only the Post, but all other newspapers, have the same right to distribute to homes as long as their content is not obscene or libelous.

THE OPPONENTS of "throwaways" got their licks in too.

Non-subscription papers were called "freeloaders" by one citizen; "not fit for reading," by another.

But a Westview area resident thought the "other newspapers" to be needed, to aid in disseminating news of the activities of clubs and organizations.

COUNCILMAN JAMES FOX pointed out that the item was not on the agenda to serve the council as a guide to restrict or limit the dissemination of either news or advertising.

He said the council was unconcerned over whether or not the publications were adjudicated, "if the people want them. . . ."

Goerner's Book Is Tension-Filled

Samuel Chandler

At the age of 38 Amelia Earhart was entitled to rest on her laurels. Twice she had licked the Atlantic and once the Pacific, Hawaii and the mainland. But Amelia Earhart was driven by an incurable restlessness. After each triumph she would tell her husband, "I have just one more flight left in my system."

Her husband, Publisher George Putnam, had learned to wait while his wife was in the air, either as a pilot or as an instructor on Purdue University's "flying laboratory."

One night "G. P." came home to find his wife studying the globe in his study. He scarcely needed to be told to know that she was planning her most ambitious adventure. The next day she revealed her plans at a press conference. She would fly around the world from east to west along a route as near to the equator as possible.

AS SHE STUDIED the globe, she found a speck of land along the line from Honolulu to Lae in New Guinea. The label on it was Howland Island. Luckily, it was an American possession. If she landed there, the longest span of water would be broken up.

But there were problems. Howland Island was very small; the surrounding islands and waters were under Japanese control and even then Japan was preparing them for war.

Miss Earhart's first start around the world ended in Hawaii with airplane trouble. Only one of her four companions, Fred Noonan of Pan American Airlines showed up for a second try.

With him aboard Amelia began the flight at Miami, Fla. The first stop was Puerto Rico, then the course ran down the coast of South America to Natal, then along the equator across Arabia, India, Burma, with brief rest stops, to New Guinea.

There she learned that the Coast Guard cutter Itasca was standing by Howland Island. On June 30 at 5:45 a.m., the Itasca made contact with Miss Earhart. "Please take a bearing on us and report in a half hour." At 7:30 she radioed, "We must be on you, but can't see you. Gas is running low." A half hour later, she said, "We are circling, but cannot hear you." Then at 8:44 a.m. came her last words, "We are on the line of position 155-337 . . . we are running north and south."

NO ONE KNOWS what happened to Amelia Earhart and Fred Noonan after that. During World War II rumors kept alive a tradition that the Japanese had captured and executed them.

In 1960 Captain Paul L. Briand Jr. published "Daughter of the Sky," that contained interviews with one Josephine Blanco who stated that she had seen an American woman and a man brought ashore by the Japanese at Tranapag Harbor. Captain Briand and the Air Force teamed up for what they called Operation Earhart. While their search turned up some evidence, they found that official records of the Japanese Empire had been destroyed.

Even as Operation Earhart conducted its search, a San Francisco television man named Fred Goerner conducted a survey for the Columbia Broadcasting System, the Scripps League of Newspapers and the San Mateo Times.

Although his search turned up no more real evidence, Goerner convinced himself that Miss Earhart and Noonan were on an official mission for the United States government and were executed as spies by the Japanese soldiers.

HIS BOOK, "The Search for Amelia Earhart," reads like a detective story, with one difference, the detective is finally frustrated by the false clues and official opposition that he meets.

Like Captain Briand's book, Goerner's ends with a supposition that is created by stitching facts around large holes.

Both books are filled with tension that burns the reader to a cinder. This is enough to repay the reader for his time.

The Marquee

Not Being Outdone

Barbara Bladen

SAN MATEO COUNTY, not to be outdone by any major community in the country, now has a ballet company of which it can be proud. Attention on the San Francisco Ballet Company has been focused through their participation in the S.F. Opera season and their recent world tour. The Peninsula Ballet Theater of the Pacific Dance Guild, San Mateo Chapter, is slated for the same success if last weekend's concert is a preview of their talents.

The concert group of 12 has already performed on television and two of its members danced for Dame Margot Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev. Director Richard Gibson, a professional dancer and choreographer of enormous talent and excellent reputation, is the company's major contributor. Saturday night's program at the Little Theater of College of San Mateo featured three of his works.

The company is young, as are its dancers. All the better to watch them progress. And all the better to measure their worth in this competitive and highly technical field. We were told there were empty seats that night but our eyes were riveted to the stage and dazzled by the talent we saw in action.

Unfortunately, the stage floor presented several problems to the dancers who found themselves sliding on the polished surface. The theater is appropriate for ballet and dance concerts but the stage must be improved. The company may be able to use the facilities of Hillbarn Theater's new plant in years to come. They need the intimacy of a smaller house, in any event.

KENNETH DELMAR, a 16-year-old dancer of considerable talent has beautiful form and excellent control. He dances as an adult and shows the result of extensive training. Not only technically proficient, he embodies a grace and style that bears careful watching. He's well begun on a formidable career as a male dancer.

He figured prominently in all four dances but distinguished himself best in the modernistic "The Door" by Richard Gibson to music by Vaughn Williams. His partner, Kristine Elliott, matched his excellence as they interlaced their limbs in fluid motion. The lithe bodies of the corps de ballet formed expressive patterns in this story that balanced between reality and fantasy.

"The Door" was modern in feeling but classic in form. One was reminded of Rorschach's test ink blot patterns in this short but succinctly interesting piece.

Delmar danced with Gretchen Stock in Gibson's "Pas De Deux" from "Flower Festival in Ganzano" after August Bournonville. She had an etherial quality as her frail-looking appearance belied a strong and well-controlled dancer's body. In the classic traditional, each took his solos and stood in detached obeisance in this re-creation of an age-old exercise. Gibson adapted the 1858 original to his dancers.

WE WERE AWARE that the choreography fit the company. The youthful group performed to its full potential without compromising any talents to "youthful" attitudes.

YOUNGSTERS LIKE two-year-old Lance Frick, of 275 Hillside Boulevard, Daly City, took part in the Westlake Shopping Center's Washington's Birthday celebration along with their elders. Young Lance smacks his approval of the cake served by the merchants.

Candidates For Trustee 'Named'

Frank LaPierre

YOU HEARD IT FIRST — The Daly City Committee for Ethics in Public Education has liam Mason and Dorothy Adams — to run in upcoming named two candidates — Wil-Jefferson Elementary School Board race in April. Both were expected to register before Friday's deadline.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED to that "conflict of interest" probe two members of the Jefferson Elementary School-Board were conducting on trustee Peter Galiano?

COW PALACE SHOW — That Travel 1967 Show at the Cow Palace in Daly City (until next Tuesday) sure isn't worth the $2 entrance charge — unless, of course, you want to travel down the Garden Path.

WOULDN'T IT BE NICE if the area around the new Civic Center matched the beautiful new building soon to be completed there. Although the Planning Commission and City Council have passed a new "C-O" zoning ordinance, there's little that can be done to clean up the conglomeration of greenhouses, apartment houses and single family structures, and convert the area into a true commercial office belt, city officials say. one of the reasons being the greenhouses are in Broadmoor.

DUFFER'S CORNER — Daly City Chamber of Commerce's annual golf tourney will beheld on schedule at the Lake Merced Golf Club in June, chamber manager Pete Markovitch disclosed at a Board of Directors meeting last week. The meet is expected to be bigger than ever, Board members were told.

And speaking of sandtraps: Golf pro Tom McHugh (of the Old Tanforan course) is swinging at the new San Geronimo links out Marin County way since the San Bruno track closed down. Tom moved away from the North County some 15 months ago, but he keeps coming back to visit old friends and play the local courses.

MISS DALY CITY contest is off and running. Sponsors of the annual event hope this year's response from local residents is better than it was in 1966. Out of a population of some 65,000 only 17 girls registered for the contest that year. Applications will be made available at local newspaper offices and at the Chamber of Commerce in Daly City.

LIVELY APPRECIATION — A letter was sent to D.C. police chief Roland Petrocchi expressing thanks for aid extended to the Richard M. Young family last Feb. 8 when daughter Anne became ill at home. The officer responding to the Westmont Drive home was "the most courteous, understanding and efficient" Young wrote. The girl underwent an emergency appendectomy soon after being admitted to hospital and is reported doing fine. Officer G. Martin Lively was commended for his actions.

TALKING ON AND ON — San Bruno city officials can't seem to get together with Consolidated Land Company officials — pricewise — on the Crestmoor Canyon Park site. Seems Consolidated wants more (money) than the City wants to offer. But negotiations are still going on — for awhile longer anyway!

Better Business

Some Results Of Competition

Lorene Beasley

Commerce and Economics defines competition as "the effort of two or more parties, acting independently, to procure the custom of a third party by offering the most favorable terms."

In recent years the outgrowth of such intense competition among financial institutions for the depositor's money has been the "development and use by a few institutions of advertising practices that could be detrimental to the public's attitude toward the nation's financial system.

The four government agencies that regulate banks and savings and loan associations, the Comptroller of the Currency, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporatin, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board and the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, on Dec. 16, 1966, announced a strict new set of advertising standards, aimed at outlawing misleading claims about the rates of interest paid to depositors by banks and savings and loan associations.

THE LETTER, sent to the presidents of all institutions whose deposits are insured by agencies of the Federal Government stated:

("(1) Interest or dividend rates should be stated in terms of annual rates of simple interest, and the advertisement should state whether such earnings are compounded and, if so, the basis of compounding.

Neither the total percentage return, if held to final maturity nor the average annual rate achieved by compounding, should be stated unless the annual rate of simple interest is presented with equal prominence."

"(2) No reference should be made to 'profit' to the investor for use of his funds over a period of time."

"(3) If an advertised rate is payable only on investments or deposits that meet fixed time or amount requirements, such requirements should be stated."

"(4) No statement should be made implying that more than $15,000 of Federal insurance is provided for each depositor in a bank or each member in a savings and loan association."

THE LETTER, although the new standards were described as "principles" banks and savings and loan associations should follow, contained a reference to the possibility of legal prosecution.

Nick's Will Celebrate 40th Anniversary in July

SPENT A MOST ENJOYABLE FEW HOURS at the home of Lorraine and Nick Gust, Sunday afternoon, which is situated high atop the coastside hills of Pacifica. Somehow, this energetic and likeable couple manage to slip away from their thriving Nick's restaurant to enjoy the comforts of this hill-top castle, which is the last word in splendor — from the impressive wrought iron entrance gates to an enclosed swimming pool. Nick mentioned that July will mark the fortieth anniversary since Anastasia and Charles Gust, Nick's father and mother, first raised the "flag" of the now well-established restaurant, which is located just a block from Highway One and a stone's throw from the Pacific ocean in Rockaway Beach. When retiring, the elder Gust turned the business over to their restaurant-wise son. Today, this popular restaurant, bar, cocktail lounge and banquet specialty house has become a dine-out tradition with countless numbers who flock here for good food, good entertainment, good times. Planning a big party? Nick's banquet facilities will accommodate from 25 to 250 persons, with special menus arranged for any occasion, plus the convenience of a P.A. system. Don Kelly is featured at the organ Wednesday through Sunday; Del Carlo and his combo beat out the musical strains Friday and Saturday evenings, with recording vocalist Mary Ann Hay singing nostalgic favorites. Nick's is open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m.; plenty of parking space. Nick's adjoining Sea Breeze Motel, which offers beautifully appointed units of luxury and comfort, is a welcome haven for out-of-towners who want to enjoy a day, a week or a vacation right on the blue Pacific.

AN EXCITING NEW FLAMENCO dance duo, Maria Dolores and Miguel Santos, have joined the "Holiday in Mexico" revue at Luz Garcia's Sinaloa cantina and supperclub in San Francisco. The heel-stomping artists co-star with that torrid Mexican firecracker, dancer Vickie Alvarez. Highlight of her performance is her dance with one of the adventuresome males in the audience. She ties his shirt tails in a Belafonte-style knot and leads him in a wild dance session. Authentic foods of Mexico, plus a selection of steaks, chops and American favorites are served at the supperclub. Especially recommended is the Special Combination Plate, a perfectly-seasoned offering for the novice or experienced aficionado of Mexican food. It includes taco, enchilada, chili relleno with rice, beans, soup and salad. There's no cover charge to diners. Three shows presented nightly, except Sunday.

THE ENTRANCE TO PHIL LEHR'S STEAKERY in downtown San Francisco is unlike any other in the U.S. Many proclaim it the most elegant they have ever seen. From the beautifully-designed bronze gate to the closed-circuit TV camera that monitors your entrance to the waiting staff, to the gorgeous Roman Court the landscaped garden setting, the huge canopy, to the grand circular staircase richly backgrounded by a shimmering curtain of jewels, it is a sight of rare beauty . . . Happenings are many at Hi-Fi Room South, plus new lounge in downtown San Mateo. Joe Borges and Ben Muntz are now offering "All you can eat" twice a week. On Tuesday night, 25 cents buys all the tacos you can handle. Hours for both nights: 6 p.m. to 1 a.m. This weekend will be the first to feature live music here. Bandstanding Friday and Saturday will be The Versatiles, pop rock 'n' roll group with a talent for jazz, swing, or you-name-it.

Lucille is responsible for the service provided by her staff of efficient and pleasant waitresses, in additon to her own station . . . One of the outstanding entertainers in Finocchio's colorful revue of female impersonators is Lucian Phelps, known for years on the stage and in niteries as the "Last of the Redhot Papas" and the "Male Sophie Tucker." Once a male soprano who reached the E above high C, Lucian now sings in a booming voice that closely resembles that of the late Miss Tucker, whose expensive wardrobe is now worn by Lucian in the Finocchio's show . . . The show at the Galaxie on SF's Broadwqy at Kearny is continuous every night from 7 p.m. It features the Straightjackets, exciting musical-singing four, an array of topless dancers; and Dave Rapken's Original Amateur Topless contests every hour seven nights a week.

Handkerchief Needed For Reservation

To give you an idea how lucrative business is at Emerson Murfee's Lanai restaurant, where Polynesian and Oriental cuisine, plus exotic drinks, are served in a tropical setting of the Islands to the strains of Hawaiian background music: When a certain gentleman, who had arranged for dinner reservations, arrived on the scene, the reception room was so crowded-with waiting guests that he couldn't get past the hat check stand, let alone reach the reservations desk of Manager Bernard Abrams.

Sooooo, being a man of action, the gentleman walked next door to the Villa Chartier and made a phone call to the Lanai. He informed Mr. Bernard that he was on hand for dinner, but was unable to reach the reservation desk through the crowd. Mr. Bernard's suggestion was really unique: He told the guest to hold up his wife's white hankie and he'd keep an eye on the door. Hence, back to the Lanai, hankie in the air, mission accomplished. As you can see, there are no dining problems in the Murfee restaurant empire.

Utah Will Erect Warehouse in SSF

Utah Construction and Mining Co. of San Francisco will locate a new $120,000 warehouse and office building in South San Francisco Industrial Park Unit 2B.

The 16,000 square foot building will be constructed by Johnson and Mape Construction Co. of Menlo Park at 234 Lawrence Avenue.

Other building permits issued last week in South San Francisco were to D. Rodriguez, $900, addition to a dwelling at 546 Baden Avenue; D. Senn, $2,000, addition to a dwelling at 136 Arden Avenue.

Town Liquors, $[illegible]00, two signs at 301 Grand Avenue; Morse Twist Drill Co., $2,700, alterations to an office at 159 West Harris Avenue; E. Toby, $800, addition to a dwelling at 2570 Bantry Lane.

Wing Huey, $1,750, addition to dwelling at 22[illegible] Delvin Way; Thunder Development Co., retaining wall at 408 Dianne Court, $350; $21,000 dwelling at 408 Dianne Court, and permits for five other $18,500 houses on Dianne Court.

John A. [illegible]chael, $400, alterations to dwelling at 330 Altaont Drive; John J. Mihalek, $3,[illegible]90, addition to a dwelling at 5[illegible]0 Lassen Street.

Coast Aide Is Praised

An "image of assistance" is what the City of Pacifica desires to have, Mayor Harland Minshew said Thursday after City Engineer Ken Thompson was praised for his helpfulness to Dollar Savings and Loan Association officials recently.

Robert L. Cross, Dollar Savings president, in a letter to the city council pointed out Thompson's "attitude of assistance" involving completion of five homes in Pacifica.

BART BLOCKED BY BEES — Stirring up a bee's-nest at the site of the BART station on Los Olivos Street in Daly City was this giant crane on Thursday. Times photographer James Irvine, cruising by the demolition site, saw the workers running in fear from the jumbled ruins of this old house. He saw quickly the reason. The crane had dislodged a wall containing a swarming beehive. Workers stayed away for two hours until the crane picked up the hive and deposited it into a truck.

Skyline College Bid Cost Is Above Architect Plan

Bids on the first two major buildings for Skyline College in San Bruno are well above the architect's estimate.

As a result, a special meeting of the San Mateo Junior College District Board of Trustees that had been scheduled Monday night for bid review and possible contract award was cancelled.

Instead, Dr. Julio L. Bortolazzo, district superintendent, announced that the matter would be taken under administrative study. He also called for a delay in planned advertising for bids on the second Skyline unit, consisting of the physical education facilities, to permit re-examination of the entire project.

A conference will be held with the architect, John Carl Warnecke and Associates.

Included in the initial bidding portion for the new campus were the science and technical-vocational classroom complex, and the fine arts center.

The lowest of four bids submitted, by the San Francisco contracting firm of Rothschild, Raffin and Weiriek, Inc., was $5,199,870 — approximately 19 per cent higher than the $4,375,420 estimate.

The other three contractors who submitted quotations at the February 16 bid opening at College of San Mateo, and their basic totals: Guy F. Atkinson Company, $5,225,000; Williams & Burrows Inc., $5,237,700, and Engstrum & Nourse Construction Company, $5,285,000.

Boy Found In San Bruno

The boy had disappeared Saturday evening after playing near P. J. Abbott School. His father, Walter Carlson, 275 West Forty-first Avenue, said that the boy had bicycled to San Francisco and then had "gone on an adventure" on the Peninsula.

San Bruno police were notified by the man who spotted the boy after seeing the picture in The Times.

Chess Yields 3 Posts

Unable to Keep Up Former Pace

Three important assignments of ailing County Supervisor T. Louis Chess were taken over yesterday, on a temporary basis, by other board members.

Chess is back on the job after a second long stay in the hospital, but is not able to keep up the fast pace that was characteristic of him before he became ill. He said he is under strict orders from his physician to cut down on his activities for the time being.

The 77-year-old supervisor was first stricken with a ruptured ulcer, which kept him out of commission for several weeks. After returning to work, he was forced to return to the hospital for treatment of leg trouble that he was told may have been a consequence of a severe loss of blood in the earlier sickness.

Board Chairman Jean Fassler will take over Chess' position as representative on the Association of Bay Area Governments. Chess, who is the association's chairman, was to have attended his last meeting in the capacity today. Mrs. Fassler went in his place.

James V. Fitzgerald was appointed to substitute for Chess as a director of the County Supervisors Association of California.

Pacifican Dies of Viet Battle Wound

A former Terra Nova High School athlete and Pacifica resident, Lance Cpl. Stan Childers has died of wounds sustained while fighting in Vietnam with the U.S. Marines.

Word of his death was received by the corporal's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Childers, 1173 Alicante Drive, Pacifica, in a letter from his commanding officer, Col. E. H. Kirby.

Corporal Childrers was a wrestler and track star at Terra Nova High School, from which he graduated in 196[illegible].

Through an error in the notification section, the family received the grim news Monday afternoon in a letter of sympathy from Colonel Kirby before the formal telegram was delivered from the Navy Department and a Marine Corps major could arrive at the home to notify the family personally. It is customary for the Marine Corps to notify personally the family of fatally wounded Marines.

Corporal Childers' wife to be, pretty Judy Heiney, his high school sweetheart, received word of her fiance's death from the elder Childers. Miss Heiny had recently made a trip to Carmel to reserve a honeymoon cottage for August 19, the date set for the wedding.

At Terra Nova High School, the flag flew at half staff over the campus where he had studied and played football. The flag will remain at half-staff until the funeral Principal Hal Tonini announced today.

His body is now in Oakland awaiting funeral services, which have tentatively been scheduled for next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The young Marine was wounded from hostile small arms while on a helicopter operation resupplying a marine battalion in a fire fight with the Viet Cong.

DENTAL HEALTH FACTS

"Cavities"

There are millions of bacteria in your mouth. Some are quite harmful because they act on sugars and other carbohydrates to form acids. These acids dissolve the enamel of the teeth. That is the beginning of tooth decay.

Unless decay is stopped by a dentist, who removes the decayed portion of the tooth and puts in a filling, decay proceeds from the enamel into the dentin and then into the pulp. Once the pulp has been infected, it may be too late to save the tooth.

Have your dentist check your teeth and take care of any cavities that may be present.

Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for some; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

SUN, MOON AND TIDE

The sun, moon and tide tables show the hours of the day, numbered consecutively from 01:00 (1 a.m.) to 24:00 (midnight) instead of using 12 hours twice followed by a.m. or p.m. Noon is 12:00. 1 p.m. is 13:00. This is the practice followed by the Army, Navy and all government tide tables and almanacs

WEDNESDAY

Sun Rises 06:43 Sun Sets 18:03
Moon Rises 23:58 Moon Sets 09:31

NOTE—In the above tabulation of the tides the daily tides are given in the order of the occurrence commencing with the early morning tide and the successive tides as they occur. On some days but three tides occur the fourth occurring the following morning.

Times and heights of tides at San Mateo Bridge, California. Furnished by Marine Exchange, Inc., from Coast and Geodetic Survey Data. Half Moon Bay tide 2 hours and 10 minutes earlier.

The columns at heights give the elevation of each tide above or below the level of Coast Survey Chart surroundings. The numbers are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign or dash (-) when the numbers are subtracted from the depths given by the chart (U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey.
